3 WOMEN PUT ON SUPREME COURT IN TEXAS TO TRY CASE

Regular Judges Disqualify Themselves in Plan to Make 'Ma' Ferguson Feel at Home.

By the Associated Press.
AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 2.—Three women have been appointed today by Gov. Pat M. Neff, to the Supreme Court of Texas.
They will constitute a special court to try a case involving property of the Woodmen of the World.
It is the first time in the history of Texas that a woman has been appointed to the highest State Court.

While the Governor did not explain his motive for appointing women, it was believed by his friends that he desired to do his part in making "Ma" Ferguson feel at home when she becomes Governor. The regular judges have disqualified themselves.

The three women justices are:
Miss Nellie Gray Robertson, County Attorney for Hood County, Special Chief Justice; Mrs. Hortense
Ward of Houston, Mrs. Edith E.
Wilmons of Dallas, former member of the Legislature.

The case to be decided by the women justices involves a lien on two parcels of land in El Paso County belonging to the Woodmen of the World Camp at El Paso. It places in issue the question of whether a trust instrument must be recorded to be effective against a lienholder, and before it is finally decided may test the validity of the law governing registration of liens.

12-STORY BUILDING FOR 11TH AND LOCUST

Store and Office Structure to Be Erected on Southwest Corner.

Plans for a new 12-story fireproof business building, to cost $750,000, at the southwest corner of Eleventh and Locust streets, were made known today. La Beaume & Klein, architects, have designed the structure for the Local Realty Co., a new corporation formed by W. M. Louderman, owner of the site.

The site is just west of the City Club, and a short distance east of the new Town Club, in a neighborhood which has been improved greatly in the last few years.
The first floor of the new building is to be finished in a manner suitable for banking purposes.
There will also be stores on the first floor, and the upper floors will be devoted to offices. It is anticipated that, in view of the new location of the Courthouse on the Twelfth boulevard plaza, the location will be a desirable one for lawyers' offices. The building will have nearly 300 rooms.

The proposed cost does not include the value of the site, which is figured at $250,000, on a valuation of more than $4000 a foot for the Locust street frontage of 85 1/2 feet. The Eleventh street frontage is 106 feet. The site is now occupied by a small hotel and a store, and the last of the leases expires March 1.

It was announced that the First National Co. would finance the enterprise.

SUGAR MADE FROM DAHLIAS

U. S. Bureau Expert Tells Scientists of Commercial Possibilities.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Production of sugar from dahlias as a commercial possibility was discussed in a paper prepared for the chemical section of the American Association for the Advancement of Science in today's session by Dr. F.
Jackson of the Bureau of Standards. Sugar in the levulose form, which is sweeter than other sugar, can be produced by a new crys-tallizing process from both dahlias and artichokes, he said, but the flower has the greatest possibilities com-mercially as from 10 to 20 tons can be grown to the acre. They were said to contain from 10 to 14 per cent levulose.

William J. Bryan, whose dissent from the theory of the evolution of man has come in for much of the discussion, became a member of the association today. Bryan's check for the membership fee was received by mail and there was no indication that the new member expected to attend the present sessions.

While in Paris.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, Jan. 2.—King Albert of the Belgians is to arrive in Paris tonight on his way to participate in the motor car trip across the Sahara to Timbuctoo, organized by the French automobile manufacturer,
M. Citroen. While here the King will call on President Doumergue.

FOUR MEN KILLED, 61 INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

City When Drivers Hit
Pedestrians and Then Flee From Scenes.

MAN KILLED WHEN AUTO IS WRECKED

Taxicab Chauffeur and Crew of Motorbus Are Being Held as Suspects in Two Cases.

DEAD
Andrew Wolski, 45, of 1216
Monroe street.

John C. New, 73, of 3501 Pestalozzi street.

John Papuga, 45, of 219 Tyler street.

Frank Bahlinger, 29, of 2706
Keokuk street.

INJURED
Tony Volodicz, 32, 1729 South
Broadway, brain concussion, fractured left arm and scalp lacerations.

Lee Gleaser, 35, 11244 South
Boyle avenue, fractured skull.

Patrolman Theodore Rowe, 38, 5028 Davidson avenue, injuries to the chest and shoulder and lacerated left arm.

Four men are dead as the result of New Year's eve automobile accidents in the 10-hour period between 7 p. m. Wednesday and 5
a. m. yesterday. Three were pedestrians killed on city streets by motorists who feloniously fled from the scenes, and the fourth was killed when his machine was wrecked on a county road.

Of the dead, two were run down and killed before midnight, bringing the 1924 toll of motor vehicle fatalities to 187 as compared with a total of 156 in the year before.
The city's 1925 list was begun at 4:30 a. m. yesterday when a man was found dead on a South Side street with no clew as to the machine which hit him.

Besides the four deaths, 61 persons were injured, three of them seriously, in accidents Wednesday night and yesterday. Two of the seriously hurt were run down by drivers who fled, leaving no clew.
In one of the fatalities, the police arrested a taxicab chauffeur, who was charged with homicide today, and in another the crew of a mo-torbus which is believed to have run over a man's body after he had been killed by another car.

Man Found Lying Dead in Gutter After Being Struck.

Andrew Wolski, 45 years old, of 1215 Monroe street was lying dead in the gutter of Gravois avenue near Blow street at 4:30 a.
m. yesterday when a pedestrian, walking to the corner, saw the body and both legs had been fractured and his body was badly cut, but no automobile was in sight and no one was found who had seen one.

Investigating, the police traced Wolski's movements up to midnight. Two friends, Robert Johnson and Carl McAdams of 2847
Lafayette avenue, said they were

FRENCH PROPOSAL ON DEBT WELL RECEIVED BY U. S.

Concrete Plan Submitted by Paris Produces Spirit of Optimism Among High Officials at Washington.

REPUDIATION HINT FINALLY REMOVED

Suggestion That Britain Favors Leniency Toward France in Matter of Payments Awaited.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—France's formal submission of a plan for settlement of her war-time debt to the United States has put a new face on what hitherto has been a highly troublesome situation.

The Washington Government desires for the present to make no comment on the step, pending a careful examination of the French note, but there is much gratification that the settlement discussions have produced at least a concrete proposal from Paris.

Hitherto French officials not only have refrained from making any such proposal and thereby providing a basis for objective negotiations, but there has been some apprehension over reports that in the event the debt might be repudiated, that possibility now is regarded as definitely removed.

British Reports Unconfirmed. There is much gratification, too, over some reports from London that Great Britain might look with approval on a Franco-American settlement, giving Paris more lenient terms than those accorded London in the Anglo-American agreement. These reports, however, still lack official confirmation.

Still another element of uncertainty in the debt question appears to have been eliminated by a British Embassy statement today, flatly denying that two bank of England officials, who recently arrived in New York, were sent to this country on an official mission.

The French note did not reach Washington in time for consideration today. Cabinet members, it was said at the French Embassy, that no word of it had been received there and State Department officials likewise declared it was not included in the list of official cablegrams which accumulated there over the New Year holiday.

Cabinet Discusses Proposal. The cabinet has been and will continue to be, however, in advance of the note, showing in detail what the French proposal might be expected to contain.

This outline, whose details are guarded with the greatest care, is understood to have been communicated to the State Department by Ambassador Herrick, after his recent conference with French Finance Minister Clementel.

It is not known whether the proposal made to Herrick was more complete in detail than information which he has furnished to Washington thus far. In the meantime, it is assumed, cable exchanges are in progress to clear up this point, and all attempts at a decision are withheld.

Two Phases of Herrick's Report. In making his report, Ambassador Herrick divided his account of his conversations with Premier Herriot and Clementel into two phases, one dealing specifically with the attitude of the French Government with respect to intention to pay and the second having to do with the plan of payment worked out by the French Finance Minister, as a basis for negotiations with the American Debt Commission.

That part of the report dealing with the second phase is understood to have been turned over to Secretary Mellon, head of the American Debt Funding Commission, which alone has jurisdiction over war loans owed by foreign Governments to the United States.

It was indicated that a meeting of the Debt Funding Commission would be called soon after more complete details are received.

Assuming that a 10-year moratorium on payments of principal and interest should be granted, France, at the end of the moratorium would owe interest over a period of about 16 years, making the total interest and principal in excess of $5,000,000,000 when the annual liquidation begins. About 80 years would be required to pay off the whole debt if the interest is paid annually after the 10-year moratorium expires.

There never has been any indication here that the American Government hoped to be the sole beneficiary from any payments made by France, although, on the other hand, officials here have studiously avoided any public discussion of the British informal suggestion that Great Britain and the United States take share and share alike in such payments.

"Mike" Cooney Dead; He Once Lost a $30,000 Roll

Former Lunch Counter and Cafe Proprietor at Merchants' Exchange for 40 Years, Was Picturesque Character.

"Mike" Cooney, for more than 40 years the genial proprietor of Cooney's Cafe in the Merchants' Exchange Building, who once took a "fixer" on the exchange floor and dropped a $30,000 roll yesterday at his home, 2102 Sheridan avenue, on his seventy-third birthday.

Until his retirement in 1918 he was known to many men and boys in the exchange building, from the brokers who ate at his restaurants in the building to the messenger boys who mounted the tall stools to take coffee and sandwiches in his lunchroom.

Only veteran members of the exchange remember the day, back in the early eighties, when Cooney, then a young fellow with a winning smile and a ready tongue, took up his stand at the building door and began to sell sandwiches. To some of the more dignified members, Cooney was a nuisance with his ready greeting and his Irish gaffes, but he won a place in the affections of most of the members and when a move was made to oust him from his place beside the door, Mike had enough friends to make sure his place as one of the institutions of the exchange. It is related that on one day Cooney sold sandwiches which had cost him 7 cents, for a total of $17.

Started With Lunch Counter. It wasn't long until Cooney had enough money to open a lunch counter in the building itself and later he opened a restaurant also. At one time he operated cafes on the second and third floors and a lunch counter on the first, and when the building was remodeled in 1923 provision was made for Cooney's establishments.

It was in his eating places that Cooney became beloved of exchange members. "Our salt and pepper is as good as the plantain," he would say gravely when someone complimented him on his food. "A glass of Waukesha," he would cry, when a customer asked for a glass of water.

About 30 years ago Cooney took his "fixer" in March corn after playing several tips successfully in solution. This is the first time that the French Foreign Office has publicly conceded that the discussions, which have been in progress for some months, amounted to "negotiations"—a term which, in diplomatic circles, is applied to only formal exchanges designed to accomplish definite results.

If France is now willing to regard her conversations with the United States as formal negotiations, that fact alone is regarded as indicating a long step toward bringing the whole subject into the open.

One thing, such a concession would seem to put an end to the apprehension that French officials might be moving toward a repudiation of the debt. Once the discussions have taken on a character of such formality, it is pointed out, it would be impossible for the French Government hereafter to take the position that the debt should not be paid at all.

It is thought official circles that Clementel's note cannot afford the basis for an actual settlement, but that it will open a discussion that may lead to a final agreement. It is understood, however, that with similar propositions, has been sent to London concerning the funding of the French debt in Great Britain.

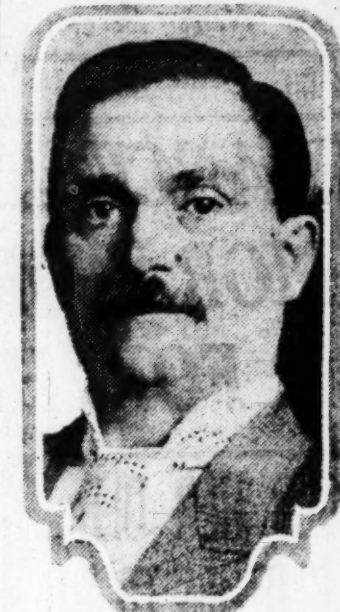

Communication From Herrick. One of the dispatches which reached the State Department over the holiday was a communication from Ambassador Herrick, telling of his long conversation with Finance Minister Clementel, and it is assumed here that when finally decoded it will contain information of great importance bearing on the terms proposed by the French Government. For the moment, however, the State Department withheld comment, both on this communication and the note on the same subject, suggesting a 10-year moratorium, signed by Clementel.

Because of the New Year intermission and the regular meeting of the cabinet this morning, Secretary Hughes found it impossible to give immediate attention to these communications. It was indicated that there would be no announcement until after a careful study of the documents and a meeting of the American Debt Commission.

British Note on Claims. Another communication from abroad, which was in process of receipt at the State Department today, was one from Great Britain, stating that Government's attitude with respect to the collection of claims by the United States from Germany. One section of the dispatch was received and decoded, while the second was said to be en route by cable.

Other reports from Paris included one by James A. Logan, American representative on the Reparations Commission, but its character was not divulged.

$150,000 Fire in Montreal. MONTREAL, Jan. 2.—Four stores, four dwellings and a club were destroyed, five firemen and a civilian were hurt by falling debris or affected by smoke, and 15 persons were driven in night attire from their homes in a temperature of 25 degrees below zero by a fire which caused damage estimated at $150,000.

From an old photograph. "MIKE" COONEY.

A small way. He lost $30,000 in a drop of the market while other investors lost up to $2,000,000. A short time later Cooney's wife and a daughter died.

From his loss on the market he learned the value of the restaurant business and was said to have amassed a tidy fortune before he sold out his place in 1918.

Wrote Casualty Letter. Cooney died of a heart attack on an excursion to the House of Delegates and there was considerable opposition, on the part of one lawyer in particular, to the payment of the $138 bill which Cooney referred to the House for payment. In a letter at that time to the Post-Dispatch, Cooney, who described himself as a "good American citizen, an Irishman by birth, a Democrat by right and a caterer by choice," said: "The bill would never have been questioned had it not been that there is among the legal fraternity of St. Louis one man of mental caliber small enough to skin a flea for its cuticle and adipose matter."

Miss Kate Cooney married. Miss Kate O'Connell, four years after the death of his first wife, the widow survives, as do three daughters, Mrs. Frank J. Fegan, Mrs. Charles E. Ballweg and Mrs. William J. Murphy. Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 2:30 a. m. at St. Alphonsus (Rock) Church.

to be in connection with the inter-allied debts.

France Would Settle Anglo-U. S. Obligations at Same Time. Copyright, 1925, by the Press and Publishing Company, Inc., New York.

PARIS, Jan. 2.—France's debts to the United States and England will be discussed and it is possible that they will be settled at the same time, it is reported on high authority.

Finance Minister Clementel's suggestion of a Dawes plan for the United States and England, but the conversation between Clementel and Winston Churchill, British Chancellor of the Exchequer, will not go further, or have a more definite result than Ambassador Jusserand's talks with Secretary of the Treasury Mellon in Washington.

They will not go further because France cannot afford to let them. The air made in Washington over Jusserand's feelers and over Clementel's report is a warning to France which has not been overlooked.

America and Britain Involved. Clementel will tell Churchill he cannot go into the question of inter-allied debts with him alone, because America is also involved in the rights to payment. The only ground on which France can come to an understanding with England at this time is the Italian debt, which is a purely inter-allied matter.

But the eagerness of Washington to learn how what France proposes to do about her debt does in effect make possible any serious discussion of inter-allied debts without simultaneously treating the French debt to the United States.

That is why it is foreseen by the French Government that it must talk to America and England together, or at the same time. Clementel realized this, as he grouped the American and British indebtedness in this report, saying:

"Our exterior loans interest only two countries, the United States and Great Britain."

Must Face Both Together. Nor can France begin conversations with the United States without doing the same with England. The interest in London over the French proposal is a sign of the fact that warning, so blocked on both sides, France believes she must face both together, which will necessitate agreement on France's ability to pay, or something resembling the expert examination which led to the Dawes reparation plan.

Much, of course, depends on the willingness of the creditors to treat the subject this way. As Britain has objected to America collecting all war damages under the Dawes plan, possible disagreement in the coming Finance Ministers' conference between Churchill and Col. James A. Logan, the American representative on the Reparations Commission, might block the conference.

'FIXER' PRESENTED WIFE AS 'NIECE OF THE HARDINGS'

Witness in Forbes-Thompson Case Says He Found She Was Not Related to President.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Jan. 2.—E. G. Dahlberg, president of a national building material concern, testified in the Forbes-Thompson Veterans Bureau conspiracy trial today that Elias H. Mortimer, the chief Government witness, represented him on various occasions as a close personal friend of former President Harding.

In one conversation, the witness said, Mortimer intimated he might approve the President in behalf of a $2,000,000 rate claim which Dahlberg then was prosecuting against certain Missouri railroads.

On a visit to the Dahlberg home in Chicago, in June, 1922, Mortimer presented Mrs. Mortimer as a niece of President Harding. He later learned, the witness said, that Mrs. Mortimer was no relative of the Harding.

At a meeting in the Hotel Ambassador, New York, on April 7, 1922, the witness said Mortimer offered to use his influence with "Warren" in furtherance of a proposed railroad concession in Colombia, South America, in which Dahlberg was interested.

J. W. Thompson, wealthy Chicago and St. Louis contractor, who is co-defendant with Charles R. Forbes, former director of the veterans' bureau, was interested in the Colombian project and is alleged in the Government case to have offered Forbes a position as consulting engineer at $100,000 a year as a bait for Veterans' Bureau hospital contracts.

comes ahead of debts, so Churchill will want to know what chance he has of getting the French debt before he agrees on the division. France, with an eye on Washington, will find it difficult to assure him without making the same assurances in the United States.

British Bankers Not On Official Mission

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Widespread reports that Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, and Sir Ireland Anderson, a director of the bank, had come to the United States on an official mission in connection with international debts were denied today by the British Embassy.

An Embassy statement declared the two visitors had come to the United States in a private capacity and would not visit Washington during their stay in this country.

This announcement served to clear away some of the air of mystery that has surrounded the visit of Norman and Sir Allan since they arrived in New York last Tuesday. They not only left Great Britain secretly, but they disappeared immediately on their arrival, making it impossible to gauge the significance of reports that they had been commissioned by the British Foreign Office to discuss certain pending questions with Washington.

The Embassy in a private capacity which officials there would not enlarge was as follows:

"Reports having appeared in the press that Mr. Norman, governor of the Bank of England, and Sir Allan Anderson, were coming to Washington on official business, the British Embassy are authorized to state that they have come to this country in an entirely private capacity, connected with banking and that they are not coming to Washington, but will remain in New York during the whole of their stay, which will not exceed a week or 10 days."

AIRPLANE FLIGHT FROM JAPAN TO EUROPE PLANNED

Two 400-Horsepower Machines Being Assembled—Tokio Government to Cooperate.

TOKIO, Jan. 2.—An airplane flight from Japan to Europe will be attempted next spring under the auspices of the Asahi, that newspaper announces.

Two Brigue airplanes, which are to be fitted with 400-horsepower Lorraine engines, ordered from France, are now being assembled for the flight. The Asahi says the Imperial Government, including the naval, military and radio departments, will co-operate.

Premier Kato and Foreign Minister Shidehara have congratulated the Asahi on its enterprise, the first of its kind planned in Japan, "not," the newspaper says, "as an indication of foreign flights, all of which have been welcomed here, but as a contribution to world culture and peace."

Joslyn of Charleston, Mo., reported this week in a dispatch to have invited Attorney-General Barrett to "go to hell as far as I am concerned," in connection with Barrett's request for a special inquiry into the recent lynching of a negro at Charleston, has telegraphed the Post-Dispatch as follows: "Statement quoting me as saying Attorney-General could go to hell false."

"Our life was perfect until after the war," during the war I worked in my apartment and at the Red Cross and I kept up on every political meeting. I did everything to become the 'perfect wife' for a Congressman. I did not care for anything. I knew something of what all the turmoil was about.

"Mr. Scott says I wouldn't help him with the Michigan delegation, that I antagonized them. He didn't like them either. I told him so. When he was in his district he was furious because I wouldn't use toothpicks in the lobby of the hotel. He said the farmers thought I was stuck up."

"Then my husband, excluded from his friendship anybody that wasn't a millionaire and that's where the Boar's Nest comes in. Many a night Mrs. Moore and I had dinner with the two men at the New Willard and the men would go and play cards in Room 225 or at the Boar's Nest. He gave Mrs. Moore a $40 bunch of roses for Christmas. I didn't get a Christmas card. On one occasion I had an interview with the President and he presented me with a picture autographed. My husband's only comment on this honor was, 'Did he kiss you?' I was furious."

Mrs. Scott said she met her husband 14 years ago when he was campaigning for the State Senate. Wife Blames Secretary. Gov. of Alaska says that Mrs. Scott made an election a condition of her engagement to Scott. The same year that Scott met his future wife he took into his office Jan. Kennedy, daughter of one of the best known families of this town. Mrs. Scott blames her for the present divorce suit "because two years before I and my husband separated I refused to take her to a reception at the Hardings. I had no interest there and I preferred to take somebody who was more accustomed to meeting people."

"The loss of a husband is a terrible price to pay for a reputation at the White House," Mrs. Scott added.

M. S. HAWKINS, MAIL FRAUD CASE FUGITIVE, CAUGHT

Man Accused of Using False Name at Dayton Hotel Identified as Mortgage Concern Head.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 2.—Morton S. Hawkins, fugitive head of the Hawkins Mortgage Co., and one of 19 persons indicted by a Federal grand jury in Indianapolis on charges of conspiracy to use the mails to defraud, was arrested at Dayton last night. It was announced here today by Homer Elliott, United States District Attorney. Hawkins was taken into custody by Dayton detectives between 11 o'clock and midnight, and held for the Government. The arrest was made at the Haynes Hotel, Dayton, where the man was registered under the name of J. R. Hart.

Twelve of Hawkins' associates in the operations of the company, the headquarters of which were in Portland, Ind., were convicted by a jury in Federal Court, Nov. 25, on the charges made in the indictment, and are to be sentenced Jan. 10. Hawkins jumped his bond Oct. 1, on the eve of his trial, and the indictment was forfeited. Testimony during the trial of the case showed investors in the Hawkins enterprises had lost nearly $5,000,000.

Keenan, Hawkins' supervisor of detectives at Dayton, said over the telephone today that detectives said Hawkins had admitted his identity after questioning. He at first insisted his name was Hart, and said he was an attorney of Detroit, Mich.

The indictments against Hawkins and 18 others were returned in January and later, in order to strengthen the bill, in March. One defendant died, 14 of the 16 who stood trial were convicted and two acquitted, and the other, Earl N. Sapp of Kansas City, has not been apprehended.

Arguments of counsel for the defendants in the Hawkins case were, to a large extent, directed to the theory that "Hawkins did it," and an attempt was made to show that the officers of the company were mere dummy directors and officials under the domination and will of Hawkins. Hawkins was painted in the testimony of his associates as the master mind of a gigantic swindle scheme, who carried out his purposes without the knowledge of those who worked with him.

Get Rich Quick Operator. The Hawkins Mortgage Company, of which Hawkins was president, carried on operations on a national scale, and in the trial in Federal court witnesses from coast to coast and from North and South testified that they had been defrauded of life savings. Much of the alleged fraud was accomplished through 104 welfare loan societies, subsidiaries, only a few of which were opened, and only two of which made any profit. Stock in these societies held by the company was listed by Hawkins in his statement of assets as being worth in excess of $7,000,000 when, in fact, witnesses said, it had a value of less than $700. The Hawkins Company has been adjudged a bankrupt in Federal Court for this district.

Hawkins is an attorney. He took a fling in high finance and at first achieved some success, but in his efforts to "get rich quick" he enlarged his operations rapidly and went too far, the result showed. He practiced law for a time in Indianapolis, but a committee of the Bar Association found him guilty of subordination of jury in connection with a receivership proceeding, and permitted him to leave the city. Since that time he has not practiced law to any extent. The action of the Bar Association was brought out in the trial in Federal Court.

CARRIED 12 MILES ON ENGINE AFTER CRASH

M'CLINTOCK DIED FROM TYPHOID, CHEMIST REPORTS

Examination of Stomach of "Millionaire Orphan" Disclosed Nothing Abnormal, Coroner Says.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Jan. 2.—The Coroner's chemist has found that William M. McClintock, known as the "millionaire orphan," died of typhoid fever. Coroner Oscar Wolff announced today.

The finding corroborated that of the pathologist employed by William D. Shepherd, foster-father of the young man, who was left the bulk of the $1,500,000 estate by young McClintock's will.

The chemical examination of the stomach disclosed nothing abnormal, Wolff said.

The Coroner's statement apparently brings to an end the official investigation into the death of Dec. 4 of the former Dartmouth College student.

"We consider the Coroner's statement a complete exoneration of Mr. Shepherd," his law partner, Ralph Stoll, said when informed of the Coroner's announcement. Shepherd has declared he would take prompt legal action against the persons he considered responsible for the investigation and which he declared had been directed against him.

Hawkins had been seen in Baltimore, Chicago and in Missouri and other Illinois cities, and in other places. He eluded attempts to capture him, and during the trial made an effort to have an attorney to surrender if a "reasonable" bond were set. Elliott refused to "dicker" with the fugitive. A number of rumors were current at various times concerning his whereabouts, some saying he was in Spain, others England and still others Paris and the Argentine.

The indictments against Hawkins and 18 others were returned in January and later, in order to strengthen the bill, in March. One defendant died, 14 of the 16 who stood trial were convicted and two acquitted, and the other, Earl N. Sapp of Kansas City, has not been apprehended.

McCLINTOCK DIED FROM TYPHOID, CHEMIST REPORTS

Examination of Stomach of "Millionaire Orphan" Disclosed Nothing Abnormal, Coroner Says.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Jan. 2.—The coroner's chemist has found that William N. McClintock, known as the "millionaire orphan," died of typhoid fever, Coroner Oscar Wolff announced today.

The finding corroborated that of the pathologist employed by William D. Shepherd, foster-father of the young man, who was left the bulk of the $1,500,000 estate by young McClintock's will.

The chemical examination of the stomach disclosed nothing abnormal, Wolff said.

The coroner's statement apparently brings to an end the official investigation into the death on Dec. 4 of the former Dartmouth College student.

We consider the coroner's statement a complete exoneration of Mr. Shepherd, his law partner, Ralph Stoll, said when informed of the coroner's announcement. Shepherd has declared he would take prompt legal action against the persons he considered responsible for the investigation and which he declared had been directed against him.

which made any profit. Stock in these societies held by the company was listed by Hawkins in his statement of assets as being worth in excess of $7,000,000 when, in fact, witnesses said, it had a value of less than $700. The Hawkins Company has been adjudged a bankrupt in Federal Court for this district.

Hawkins is an attorney. He took a fine in high finance and at first achieved some success, but in his efforts to "get rich quick" he enlisted his own name and went too far, the result showed.

He practiced law for a time in Indianapolis, but a committee of the Bar Association found him guilty of subordination of parties in connection with a receivership proceeding, and permitted him to leave the city. Since that time he has not practiced law to any extent. The action of the Bar Association was brought out in the trial in Federal Court.

25 NEW YEAR'S EVE CELEBRATORS QUIETLY ARRESTED

Revelers Not Taken Into Custody but Told to Appear at Federal Building Today.

LIQUOR SEIZED IN EACH CASE

Eighteen of Arrests Made at Two Hotels, Rest at Inns — Warrants to Be Sought.

Twenty-five New Year's Eve celebrators, accused by Federal prohibition enforcement agents of unlawful possession of alcoholic beverages, were due to report today at the Federal Building, where the agents propose to apply for warrants against them.

The 25 men, who were arrested at five different places Wednesday night, were not taken into custody and hustled away in patrol cars at the time. They were removed from their companions only long enough to take their names and addresses and were then served with notices for appearance today, and were permitted to return to their friends. The liquor was confiscated in each case.

The first two men who reported to Goshorn were permitted to go, after talking with him, without application for warrants against them being made. Goshorn said he "reprimanded" the men, but did not undertake to prosecute them, because of doubt whether he could make a case. There was some evidence in some of the other cases, he said.

Where Arrests Were Made.
 Eleven of the arrests were made at Hotel Jefferson, six at the Claridge Hotel, six at Mission Inn, one at the Washington Hotel and one at Bevo Mill.

Names of the men arrested were not made public, pending application for warrants. It was anticipated that some of the men would deny possession of liquor which, when found, was on a table in the midst of a group.

In cases where arrests were made no attempt was made to search other persons in the party. The arrests were made with little ostentation and as little disturbance of those not conspicuously violating the law as possible.

 with him at that hour and left him seated in an automobile in front of a saloon at 9299 Broadway, about 10 miles from the scene of his death, while they went out for a drink. When they came out, he was gone, they asserted, and they thought no more of it until they heard he was dead.

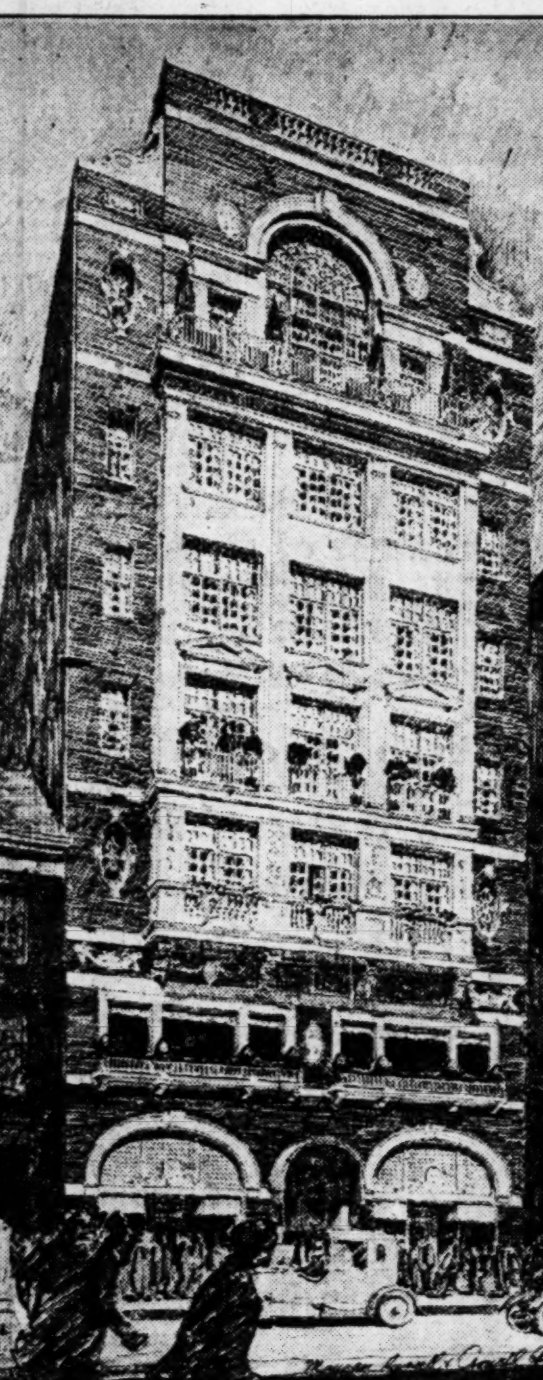

Chaufeur Held by Coroner on Charge of Homicide.
 John Papuga, 45, of 219 Tyler street, was killed Jan. 1, 7 p. m. Wednesday at Broadway and O'Fallon street. A witness said he staggered into the street and fell in front of a Yellow taxi cab which ran over him and continued north without slowing down.

At an inquest today, a Yellow chauffeur, Albert Huke, 33, of 4722 Olive street, who had answered a call in that vicinity, was ordered held on a charge of homicide. The jury recommended that he be held without bond and Coroner Vitt announced that he would ask Director of Streets and Sewers John P. McKelvey to call him in license permanently. It is the first time that a coroner has considered such action.

After the accident a check of Yellow cabs revealed that cab No. 217 had been gone from the city for some time. The cab was found at 1714 North Broadway. Frank Sewester of 2710 Terry avenue, manager of the company, testified he boarded the cab to go home about 7 p. m. He was "paralyzed drunk," he testified, and woke up beside a roadhouse near 8400 North Broadway, his pockets turned out and his money gone.

Cab No. 217 was found later in the alley behind 3918 Garfield avenue and Huke was arrested inside. He had hit no one, he said, and was "paralyzed drunk," he testified, "he wanted to fight," he said, "and I threw him out." At the in-

$400,000 Home of Town Club To Be Dedicated Tomorrow

Seven Floors of "House That Jill Built" Will Be Devoted Exclusively to Needs and Services of Women.

"The House That Jill Built" is to be dedicated tomorrow.

That house is the new $400,000 home of the Town Club, at 1120-22 Locust street—a clubhouse whose seven floors are to be devoted exclusively to the needs and service of women. Besides housing the almost 3000 members of the Town Club, it will provide a home for the League of Women Voters and its auditorium will be the meeting place for the Morning Etude and other women's musical clubs.

Jack carried the mortar and laid the bricks, but Jill raised the dough. Hers was the dream, and hers the financing which made possible that dream of a center for women's activities in St. Louis.

Members of the Town Club subscribed $100,000 in 425 shares to the Town Club Building company, and purchased the site. Through banking connections the necessary financing was accomplished.

Many Individual Gifts.
 And "Jill" furnished the house she built. There were group donations of furniture and equipment, and individual donations of these and other things. Members who entered the Town Club in certain years joined together to fit out certain rooms. Groups of colleagues in businesses or professions did the same. Among individual contributors were two grand pianos. Thus has the clubhouse been fitted out.

The whole task has been accomplished without a single assessment upon members. Jill put her mind to it, and her pocket-book. That was all.

But Jack wasn't far away. "There are many good brothers-in-law to the Town Club," Miss Matilde Gecks, president, said today. "They advised an encouraged us."

Bus Passes Over Body of Man Beheaded Killed by Auto.

John C. New, 73, a machinist, of 3501 Pestalozzi street, was killed in front of 3800 South Broadway shortly before midnight of New Year's eve. Witnesses who carried his body from the roadway said a southbound bus of the People's Motorbus Co. had passed over him, but their opinion was that he had been hit first by some other preceding vehicle.

A bus crew was arrested at the south end of the line. The chauffeur, Fred O. Johnson, of 2911 South Broadway, said he felt the car jolt at the point of the accident, stopped and started again, but saw nothing and started again at his conductor's signal. The conductor, Louis Schaefer, of 3502 Minnesota avenue, said he felt the bus jolt and stop, and then when he saw there were no passengers he got on, gave the signal to start, and threw him out." TAX CHECKS FLOOD COLLECTOR'S OFFICE Employees Work Until Midnight New Year's Day on Big Pile of Letters.

Thousands of unopened letters, containing taxpayers' checks, and forming a pile two feet high on a counter 100 feet long, were attacked today by the City Collector's force, which worked yesterday, regardless of the general holiday, until midnight.

Because of the unusual volume of the mail, the office was unable today to make an accurate estimate of the amount of taxes paid in time to escape the penalties of delinquency. Remittances shown by postmarks, after midnight Wednesday, Dec. 31, are treated as delinquent, with a penalty of 1 per cent a month.

The office today received over to the city and schools $3,297,588.23 as of Dec. 31 collection. This sum represents the amount, free from penalty, received in mail opened since Wednesday. Up to Wednesday the amount received had been $11,729,414.76 of the levy of $22,361,616.52. It was estimated that about $22,000,000 would be received. It was impossible to tell today whether this expectation had been realized, however, as there is still a large quantity of mail to be opened.

The suit of six national banks, in Federal Court, to relieve themselves of liability for taxation on their capital stock, involving $757,000, may reduce the "expected" amount, as the banks have not paid these taxes this year.

Of the taxpayers who have been asked to open and the enclosed cash or check compared with the original bill; then the payment must be credited on the Collector's books, and a receipt prepared and mailed. Besides the long lines of mails, thousands of taxpayers made their payments in person, the year-end rush lasting until a late hour New Year's eve.

CARR IN JUGGLING DIDN'T EVEN SPARE BANK PRESIDENT allowance Francis must pay four other lawyers who assisted him, he said after the hearing.

The report shows cash collected by the Finance Commissioner amounting to $1,875,110.37, and shows disbursements of $1,824,434.73.

Deposits in the bank at the time of its closing amounted to $2,453,121, there being about 5000 savings accounts and about 3500 checking accounts.

In the report on which Judge Frey acted the bank's shortage was placed at $754,751.90. Use of the bank's capital stock, surplus and undivided profits, amounting to $169,000, and collection of cashier Carr's salary of $50,000, had reduced the loss to depositors to slightly more than $250,000, and the Finance Commissioner hopes to wipe out this deficit through the sale of real estate turned over to him by Carr.

Carr's 63-acre home in St. Louis County, 50,000 acres of land in Mexico, 10,000 acres of land in Texas and 1920 acres of cotton land in Mississippi County, Missouri, are the principal assets the Finance Commissioner has to convert into cash to offset the losses still remaining.

Specialists in the bank at "Chippewa street and Broadway" handled the payment of the 70 per cent dividend to depositors of the bank, last September.

quest last night, they said they were going home from a county roadhouse at high speed when Bahlinger apparently lost control of his machine which swerved abruptly to the side of the road.

The guard rail which borders the road held the machine on the road but wrecked it almost completely. An accident verdict was returned.

Three Men Badly Injured When Struck by Autos.
 Tony Vodicic, 22, of 1229 South Broadway, suffered concussion of the brain, a fractured left arm and a lacerated scalp at 3 a. m. yesterday when struck by an automobile while crossing Page boulevard at Blackstone avenue. The driver of the machine, a Ford touring car, failed to stop.

A man who entered a saloon at 141 South Vandeventer avenue, informed the customers that a man hit by an automobile was lying in the street outside and then got into a Dodge touring car and drove away being sought by police in connection with the injury of 726 p. m. of Lee Geisler, 35, of 1124A South Boyle avenue, who was found in the street in front of the saloon suffering a fractured skull.

Patrick Thomas Rowe, 38, of 5085 Davidson avenue, suffered injuries to the chest and shoulder and lacerations of the left arm when struck at 1 a. m. yesterday at West Pine boulevard and Spring avenue by a machine driven by Emmett Duren, 26, a chauffeur, 3726 Delmar boulevard. Duren was charged with careless driving and failing to make a boulevard stop.

SIX OFFICIALS SUSPENDED FOR POSTAL PAY PLAN

ize parcel post users against any increase in rates, whereby they were to "contribute $100 apiece to be paid to McDermott, posing as general manager for them, in semi-annual payments." The plan was broken up when news of it reached his office, New's statement said.

New also made public the complete report of the investigators, which set forth that McDermott and the six suspended officials had been friends for some years and that the National Association of Postal Supervisors, of which they were members, originally paid McDermott $125 a month to act as correspondent for "the Postal Supervisors," a monthly periodical published by the association. The inspectors allege this was "simply a cloak to justify the payment of the $125 a month to McDermott" and that Tittle wrote McDermott on July 12 a letter saying, "With reference to the correspondent end of the arrangement, I think McDermott is the man for the job. He is a Postal Supervisor, and the department or anyone interested in an investigation could readily discover that this term is simply a 'blind'."

Thought Pay Too Low.
 However, throughout the report the indication is that the Postal Supervisors sought to employ McDermott to aid in drafting legislation, and, once offered him $2000 a year if he would resign from the Senate Committee assistant secretaryship, but he thought this pay too low. Thereafter the plan was matured, and expected in part, to pay him for services in drafting bills in which the association was interested.

Riedesel, clerk of the House Committee, today said that because of the "unhappy notoriety" connected with the investigation he had resigned.

The investigation was undertaken by the Postoffice Department after New's charges were made. President Coolidge. A justice department inquiry resulted in the announcement by Attorney-General Stone that no law had been violated.

Under the law employees of Senate and House committees occupying the status of McDermott and Riedesel are not technically included within the definition "officers of the United States," who are prohibited from accepting money under certain conditions.

McDermott's Influence Feared.
 "All the postal supervisors, without exception, claimed it was McDermott who suggested his employment," Riedesel said today, "and antagonize him because of his close connection with the pending salary bill, fearing he would then oppose fair salaries for supervisors, and for this reason they acceded to his request." The inspectors' report stated.

"The association's Executive Committee made a present of $1000 to Riedesel, who had furnished them information from time to time," Riedesel said. Ellsworth, secretary of the association and now assistant cashier of the Milwaukee Postoffice, made a frank statement to the inspectors and stated that the $1000 was purely a gift and was not solicited by Riedesel. Correspondence of members of the Executive Committee, indicated, however, that Riedesel knew he was to receive the present before it was made.

The first clew to the transactions was disclosed when McDermott became dissatisfied with the slowness with which the money was coming in.

"Most of the six supervisors directly implicated proved unwilling witnesses and made at first misleading statements until Fields and Sansom made a clean breast and told the facts."

In regard to the alleged plan of McDermott to organize parcel post users, the report said:

"Many of the seed houses and other large users of parcel post were to contribute $100 apiece to be paid to McDermott, posing as general manager for them, in semiannual payments. The headquarters of the association was given a Room 719 Albe Building, Washington. When postoffice inspectors visited this room they were informed that several months ago Riedesel visited the office and made arrangements for receipt of money addressed to 'the Postal Shippers and Federal Service Bureau.' Considerable mail was received for a time, but suddenly stopped when the plan fell through."

When it became known several days ago that McDermott had been discharged, Chairman Sterling said the action had been taken "for the good of the service," and withheld further comment. Chairman Grist of the House Committee, in announcing yesterday his acceptance of Riedesel's resignation, declined to discuss the circumstances which led to it.

Riedesel's Explanation.
 In a formal statement Riedesel, who has been in the Government service 20 years, said that at the close of the last session of Congress a member of the supervisors' association in saying good-by to him informed him the association was planning a little surprise. Another member later said the association was planning to make a gift of a little purse of money "in appreciation of the million and one courtesies and kindnesses shown them on every occasion in the year past."

"That their intended expression of appreciation was from the purest motives of friendship," said Riedesel, "I do not and have not the slightest doubt, and that there ever was any thought or expectation of any improper conduct is simply unthinkable."

Good Solo Singer Turned Out to Be Bad Check Writer

Newcomer at Nashville, Ill., Was Life of the Party but Next Day Was in Jail — His Auto Taken Away.

Santa Claus and Walter Bacon both arrived in Nashville, Ill., on Christmas morning. Santa came first and departed without being seen, but Walter parked his attractive new roadster where all might see and announced Nashville looked good to him.

An ingratiating fellow was the newcomer. He attended the Presbyterian Church on Sunday and even lent his tenor to the choir. His voice was genuine, for hadn't he been soloist at a Topeka, Kan. church, so he received and accepted an invitation to sing a solo next Sunday.

Writer as Well as Singer.

A writer as well as a singer, Bacon wrote checks for $10, $10 and $5 and presented them in that order to William Tharp, the garage man; Henry C. Burman, a merchant, who sold him a traveling bag, and Harry Anderson, with whom he boarded. The checks were signed, respectively, Walter O. Bacon, Nathaniel Bacon and Nathaniel Bradshaw.

Asked, with due deference, to explain his possession of more than one set of names, Bacon discoursed on his past stage career. In his time, he said, he had taken many parts and as many names and his stage memories still haunted him, especially when he wrote his name, with the result that his signature sometimes varied. He laughed so heartily at his versatility in check-writing that Tharp invited him to be a New Year's watch party.

City Marshal Suspicious.
 City Marshals, however, are paid to be suspicious, and John Fox, Nashville's Marshal, was earning

THEATER MANAGER TRAILED AND ROBBED

Loses $100 in Holdup at Traffic Sign—Five Burglaries Also Reported.

Five burglaries and three hold-ups were reported to the police yesterday.

In addition, Ben Schwartz, manager of the Lowell Theater, 5029 North Broadway, was held up at Newstead avenue and Delmar boulevard at 2:35 a. m. today as he waited for a traffic signal and was robbed of $101.90, including some of yesterday's receipts, by two men who had been following his machine in another automobile. Schwartz, who was on his way to his home at 715 Limit avenue, was ordered by the men to drive west after the robbery.

Oil Station Robbed.

At 9:15 p. m. yesterday a man who had asked to be allowed to warm his hands in the Standard Oil Co. station at Ewing avenue and Pine boulevard, covered Samuel Brown, negro attendant, with a revolver when Brown told him the company rules forbade the presence of loiterers in the station. After locking Brown in the wash-room the robber fled with $40 from the safe.

A masked man held up Edward Scheldelhub, a clerk, in the drug store at 2518 Clara avenue, and escaped with $96 from the cash register at 9:30 p. m.

Following are the homes which were robbed by burglars yesterday afternoon: Hase, 6447 Arenal street, six rugs and floor lamp valued at $400; John S. Martman, 2401 Halliday avenue, radio set, cedar chest and floor lamp, $300; Morris Grossman, 5359 Pershing avenue, jewelry and clothing, $600; and $15 in cash; William E. Moehlendorf, 1019 McCausland avenue, jewelry, $250, and Thomas O'Keefe, 4450 Margaretta avenue, jewelry and clothing, $200.

DUKE OF YORK SHOOT CHARGING RHINOCEROS

Animal Wounded by Previous Shot Is Dropped Within 50 Yards of Hunter.

By the Associated Press. NAIROBI, Kenya, East Africa, Jan. 2.—The Duke of York, second son of King George, who is visiting Kenya with his bride, had a thrilling experience while on a rhinoceros hunt on Sunday, it is learned.

The Duke stalked a huge rhino and fired at him, whereupon the animal charged. The royal hunter, a big ground and fired again, when the rhino was 20 yards from him. The big game hunter, Anderson, another member of the party, fired simultaneously and the rhino fell.

The Duke is described as being delighted with his adventure.

Man Found Dead on Miami Beach.
By the Associated Press.
MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 2.—The body of Warren G. Snowden of Memphis, Tenn., was found on the beach at Miami Beach yesterday morning.

Slight abrasions on the face are not believed to have caused death. Although the body had been in the ocean a few hours, there was no water on the lungs, according to the undertaker.

Olive Street 'Shiek' Who Faces Fraud Charge

WILLIAM WHITE.

A WARRANT charging fraud has been issued against William White, styled by the police as the "shiek of Olive street." White, who lives at the Majestic Hotel, was arrested Tuesday evening after Miss Marie Biffar, a domestic of 912 Hodiament avenue, had made an appointment with him and had brought detectives with her. She told the police that White, who is 30 years old, had promised to marry her and had taken the money, her life savings, under the pretense of investing it. White was involved in a similar affair 10 months ago, but the prosecution was dropped by the woman, who said she had given White $3000.

200 PASSENGERS ON BURNING LINER SAFE

Mohawk, From New York for Jacksonville, Makes Port With Cargo Afire.

By the Associated Press. LEWES, Del., Jan. 2.—More than 200 passengers were landed here today after spending an anxious and thrilling night aboard the Clyde Line Steamer Mohawk, in whose hold fire was discovered while 25 miles at sea during one of the worst storms of the winter off the New Jersey coast.

The Mohawk, which left New York yesterday for Charleston and Jacksonville, was later grounded on one of the shoals in Delaware Bay north of this place for the purpose of extinguishing the flames. The passengers were taken off the Mohawk by the coast guard cutter Kickapoo with the assistance of the tug Mars and Kaleen while the storm raged in the bay. Although the passengers were worn out and hungry and some of them wet from the heavy rain that accompanied the storm, none suffered severely. They were made as comfortable as possible here, and the steamship company arranged to transport them by train to their destination.

The passengers were notified of the fire last night. At first it was not thought serious, but it made headway and Capt. J. M. Staples decided that all hands should prepare to leave the ship if necessary. The ship's course was changed to the Delaware Capes, and calls were sent out for assistance. The first to respond was the steamer Persian of the Merchants and Miners' line, which kept in touch with the distressed Mohawk and saw her safely in the Delaware Capes. Anchorage was made in shoal water near Brandywine light about 10 miles north of the capes, where the bay is 20 miles wide.

It was here where the passengers, most of whom had donned life belts and were up all night, were transferred while the gale howled and were brought to Lewes. Among them were many women. The cause of the fire is not known.

Actress Bride of Briton

PEGGY MARSH

PEGGY MARSH WEDS EX-BRITISH OFFICER

Actress, Who Sued Marshall Field Estate, Bride of Kin of Duke of Manchester.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

Copyright, 1925, by the Press and Publishing Co., the New York World and the Post-Dispatch.
LONDON, Jan. 2.—Peggy Marsh, actress and principal in a suit against the Marshall Field estate to obtain part of it for her son by Henry Field, has become the bride of Capt. Keld Robert Fenwick, formerly of the Royal Horse Guards. He is a relative of the Duke of Manchester and his first wife was a sister of the Duchess of Westminster.

The ceremony was performed yesterday at the Mary-le-Bone registry office in London in strictest privacy. The principals appeared with only the necessary two witnesses and immediately afterward left for an unnamed destination. The register gives the bridegroom's age as 22. He is the divorced husband of Gladys Mary Fenwick, formerly Nelson, a daughter of the late Sir William Nelson, one of England's leading shipping magnates.

The bride's age is given as 25. Her name was given as Annabell Bertha Johnson, widow of Albert L. Johnson. He was a wealthy New York and Cleveland stock broker, the son of the former president of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Co., and a nephew of the late Mayor Tom Johnson of Cleveland.

The last man yesterday was G. D. F. Rowley, a former Lieutenant in the Royal Horse Guards, who was the first husband of the Duchess of Westminster. The marriages of these two comparatively impecunious Guardsmen to the beautiful Nelson heiresses created a considerable sensation here, equalled by the fact that both wives obtained divorces.

Peggy Marsh's suit against the Field estate was not contested by the family, but was in the nature of a friendly proceeding to interpret the long, involved will. The Court held that illegitimate children were excluded from all benefits under the testament, although there was no dispute that the actress' son, Henry Anthony Marsh, was Henry Field's child.

He had met the actress in France during the World War, while he was driving an ambulance, and died at the age of 21, shortly after his return to the United States.

In 1921, Miss Marsh married Albert T. Johnson and he legally adopted the boy. On Aug. 31, 1922, he accidentally shot himself in the abdomen while he and his wife were visiting at the Adirondack camp of Jack Clifford, former husband of Evelyn Nesbit, but it was thought he would recover. However, in January pneumonia introduced complications, and Johnson died Jan. 2, 1923. The authorities began an investigation into the circumstances of the shooting, but it was dropped at the request of the family, Johnson insisting it was an accident.

STATE SYSTEM OF TAXING NATIONAL BANKS ATTACKED

Six Institutions Here Join in Suit to Restrain Collection of Levy of $757,- 066 on Stocks.

ACTION BASED ON FEDERAL LAW OF 1923

Taxation of Both the Income From Stocks and Also Stocks at Full Value Objected To.

Six St. Louis national banks filed suits late Wednesday in the Federal Court to enjoin the collection of $757,066 taxes assessed against their stocks by the State, on the theory that Missouri's system of taxing national banks is void.

The petitions point out that under the Federal banking act of 1923, it is provided that a State may tax national banks in one of three ways and that the State may elect its mode of levy. It is charged that the Missouri law taxes the income from stocks and at the same time assesses them at full value as personal property.

The suits do not include income taxes for the past year, which already have been paid, but in the event the contention in the suit is sustained, income tax collections, based upon 1924 income, will be barred.

May Force Change in State Law.

If the suits are successful, the Legislature will have to amend the State tax law to conform to the national act. It is unlikely, however, that the suits will reach a decision before the close of the coming legislative session and the matter may be taken up independently.

The plaintiff banks and the amount of taxes charged against them upon stock assessments are:
First National Bank, $25,475.50;
National Bank of Commerce, $274,- 936.45; Merchants-Laclede National Bank, $63,435.03; State National Bank, $62,387.26; National City Bank, $28,964.45; and St. Louis
National Bank, $1867.81.

SUIT TO TEST POWER OF U. S. TRADE BODY

Action Brought Here to Compel Photo-Engravers' Union to Produce Books.

A test suit to determine whether the Federal Trade Commission has power to compel production before it of books of an organization suspected of participation in price fixing, was filed in Federal Court here today.

The suit discloses that the commission has started investigation of a contract between photo-engravers' unions in St. Louis and other cities and an association of employers, which, the commission believes, is responsible for illegal control of prices.

Harry F. Malseed, recording secretary of St. Louis Photo-Engravers' Union, Local No. 10, is named defendant. The commission, as plaintiff, asks the Court to compel Malseed to turn over to the commission for investigation, all books and papers of the local, particularly minutes.

A representative of the commission, in St. Louis today, said the suit filed here grew out of an investigation begun last year of the contractual relations of organized photo-engravers and their organized employers. The investigation was said to be concerned almost entirely with a clause in a contract by which the union agreed not to permit its members to work for any one not a member of the employers' association, and, in turn, the bylaws of the association obligated members to abide in the operation of their business, by the will of the majority.

This, it is charged, has resulted in price fixing. "Numerous instances" where workers struck or threatened to strike when employers reduced prices against the will of their majority are said to have come to the commission's attention. The commission said that in St. Louis and other cities, with the unions producing their books, until the United States Supreme Court, in a similar case, handed down a decision holding the commission had no right to demand all documents, but only such as were definitely related to the inquiry. The American Tobacco Co. and the P. Lorillard company were defendants in that inquiry. Since then, it is alleged, the unions have declined to produce any more of their private books and records.

RIG SEMI-RIGID AIRSHIP TO BE ASSEMBLED AT SCOTT FIELD

Will Be Largest of Type in the World, With Exception of One Owned by Italy.

Plans for a new army airship, to be known as the RS-1, are being shipped from Akron, O., to Scott Field, where the ship is to be assembled. The RS-1, when completed, will be the largest ship at the field, as it will be 232 feet long, 70 feet in diameter and will have a gas capacity of 719,000 cubic feet of helium.

Power will be supplied by three 400 horse-power Liberty motors and there will be three gondolas, two for the motors and one for the navigators. The craft is to be of the semirigid type, the only ship of its kind at Scott Field and the largest one of its type in the world with the exception of the Roma, owned by Italy. It will be used by the army for scouting, aerial photography, training and experimental work. Ten days will be required for shipment of the parts and three months for the assembling work.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—
Most Women Can Have.

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician.

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, yellow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headache, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results. Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit, 15c and 30c.

ANOTHER REVERSAL ON FLIGHT INSTRUCTION

Conviction of St. Louisan on Pickpocket Charge Remanded for New Trial.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 2.—A defective form of instruction to trial juries on the weight to be attached to flight of a defendant after an alleged crime, which has been the basis of reversal of several convictions in criminal cases tried in St. Louis courts, again is cited by Division No. 2 of the Supreme Court in a decision Wednesday reversing the conviction and two-year prison sentence of Frank Burns of St. Louis on a pickpocket charge. The case was remanded for new trial.

Burns was convicted on a charge of picking the pockets of Norman P. Knowlton, 5578 Clemens avenue, in May, 1922, on a St. Louis street car. Knowlton pursued Burns after jumping from the street car and caught him, with the aid of a watchman.

An instruction on flight was given in the trial which was so worded, the Supreme Court held, that it assumed the guilt of the defendant. Commissioner Ralley, who wrote the opinion, said the instruction "not only was obnoxious because it was a comment on the evidence, but assumed that the defendant, after the commission of the larceny, fled from the scene of the alleged crime."

The conviction was reversed on the finding of error in that instruction. Commissioner Ralley pointed out that the form of the flight instruction had been condemned in several decisions.

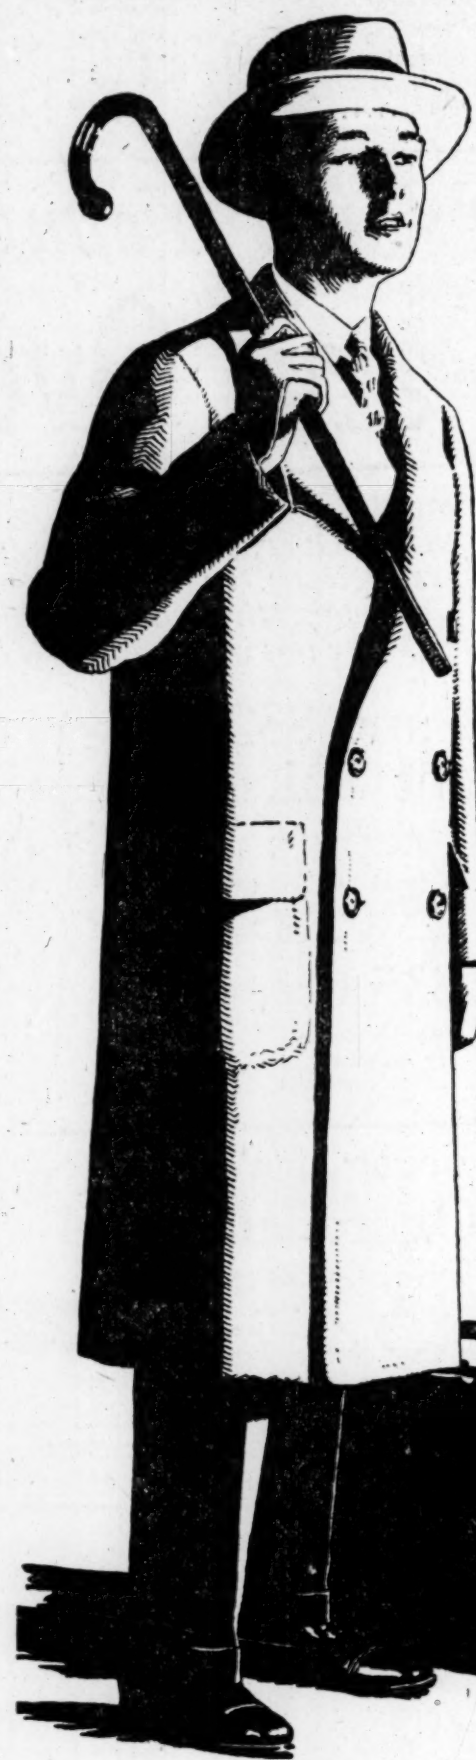

As is known, the death sentence of Spencer Jordan negro, for killing a St. Louis policeman, recently was reversed by the Court and remanded for new trial on an almost identical flight instruction which was prepared by the St. Louis Circuit Attorney's office for submission to the jury. A similar instruction was given in the trial of Arthur O. Meininger, convicted cashier of the defunct Night and Day Bank of St. Louis. Meininger's appeal from a five-year sentence for embezzlement is now pending decision in the Supreme Court.

BIG SONG STARS ON RADIO SCARE THEATER OWNERS

Broadcasting Constitutes the Greatest Menace Profession Has Faced, Declares William A. Brady.

UNITY OF ACTION UNDER CZAR" URGED
Meeting of Actors Called, Following Program Given by Bori and McCormack for Phonograph Concern.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch, NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—The golden tenor of John McCormack and the lyric soprano of Lucezia Bori, borne through the air to a audience of millions last evening, ushered in a new era in broadcasting and raised the question whether there will have to be realignment of the economic forces that compete in entertaining the public.

Radio, despite its great and increasing popularity, has never been able to draw extensively upon the talent of the world's greatest singers and musicians. McCormack was one of many who repeatedly declined to sing for it.

Last night he and Bori stepped over the barrier and from a little room at WEAF, the American Telephone and Telegraph Co.'s station, began the experiment that may result in amusement and entertainment changes measured by millions of dollars.

Theater Men Worried.
The result was entirely pleasing to the audience, as was assured in advance. But what will happen next is worrying many of those who are in the business of selling entertainment.

When the public, sitting comfortably at home in easy chairs, can have entertainment of the highest quality without direct expense, will it dress, take the subway to Times Square and attend the theater at a cost of $2.75 and upward for each seat?

Hearing McCormack by radio will be influenced to buy more of his phonograph records or fewer records?

Will the thousands of persons who have hitherto made their way to the life of the radio capitulate now and overwhelm manufacturers and dealers with orders for receiving sets?

These questions are going to be answered very quickly, for the Victor company in co-operation with the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., will broadcast two programs of similar quality each week. The company declares the continuance of the programs "will depend upon the response we receive from radio audiences."

No Direct Pay.
It is no secret, however, that the theater owners are alarmed. They are wondering to what extent radio competition will cut into their receipts and what can be done about it. Some fear they will have slim attendance two nights a week if the broadcasting programs continue as a regular event.

None of the Victor artists who have agreed to broadcast will be paid, their only possible direct compensation coming from increased royalties on records. Some of those under contract to the company have remained steadfast in their refusal to permit broadcast. The latter include Feodor Chaliapin the Russian bass; Rene F. Chemet, French violinist; Alfred Cortot, pianist; Mischa Elman, violinist; Amelita Galli-Curci, coloratura soprano; Beniamino Gigli, tenor; Jascha Heifetz, violinist; Fritz Kreisler, violinist; Boris Rachmaninoff, pianist; Tito Schipa, tenor; and Reinald Werrenrath, baritone.

Those who will broadcast are: Alda, Bauer, Bori, De Gogorza, De Luca, Pleta, Flonzaley Quartet, Gordon, Jeritza, McCormack, Marcellini, Matzenauer, Ponselle, Schumann-Heink, Scott, Whitehill, Paul Whiteman, Richard Crooks, and the Shannan quartet.

"Theater's Greatest Menace."
"Radio constitutes the greatest menace that the theater ever faced," William A. Brady, producer declared, adding that the theatrical profession to face the new danger stood in need of unity of action under a "czar" comparable to Will Hays of the Motion Picture Industry.

Frank Gilmore, speaking for the Actors' Equity Association, of which he is executive secretary, declared that radio is "a terrible menace to the theater."

ace to the actor." An open meeting of Equity has been called for Jan. 26, Gilmore said, to arouse the theater as a whole to concerted action against the encroachments of radio.

Accidentally Shot With Revolver.

One clever actress tells that she reduced steadily and easily by using this new form of the famous Marmola Prescription Tablets several times a year she keeps her weight just right. All druggists sell Marmola Prescription Tablets at one dollar for a box, or if you prefer you can secure these direct from the Marmola Co., General Motors Bldg., Detroit, Mich. If you have not tried them, do so. They are pleasant to take and effective.

HIT BY CELEBRATOR'S BULLET
Woman, Closing Bakery, Wounded in Arm.

One of several shots fired about midnight New Year's eve by celebrators speeding south on South Jefferson avenue in a motor car, struck Mrs. Bernard Robbins as she was closing her bakery at 3406 South Jefferson avenue. The missile grazed her left arm.

Had Close Shave

"My wife and children thought I was dying when, after an attack of acute pains in my stomach, I became unconscious. It was right after our Sunday dinner. They say I looked like dead and guess I had a pretty close shave. I had been having more or less stomach trouble and bloating with gas for past two years and could eat no permanent help. Talking with a friend about my attack, he advised me to try Mary's Wonderful Remedy. I have not had any gas or stomach trouble since taking it eighteen months ago. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. J. F. JUDGE HAS YEAR TO PERFECT APPEAL

Man Convicted in County
Primary Frauds Has First Appeal Dismissed.

Joseph F. Judge, the only man to be convicted out of almost 100 defendants indicted in St. Louis County on charges of fraud in the 1922 primaries, will get one more year to perfect his appeal as a result of the action of the Supreme Court Wednesday in dismissing his first appeal on a technicality.

Judge, who is a brother-in-law of Tony Foley, gambler and ex-convict, was found guilty June 1 of fraudulent voting by a jury which fixed his punishment at a year in jail and a fine of $1000. Judge took an appeal and the matter was in the Supreme Court when it was discovered that there was no record in the Circuit Court books of formal pronouncement of sentence upon Judge.

With this discovery Attorney-General Barrett asked that the appeal be dismissed and the Supreme Court Wednesday No. 2 took this action Wednesday, holding that the appeal did not have the proper foundation in that the defendant had not been formally sentenced.

Circuit Judge Wurdeman, who presided at the Judge trial, has announced his intention of sentencing Judge formally as soon as he is officially apprised of the action of the Supreme Court. Judge, by statute, will have one year after the passage of the sentence within which to perfect his appeal and if he avails himself of the legal time it will be more than a year before the Court finally passes on his appeal. Judge Wurdeman, explaining the technicality on which the appeal is dismissed, has stated that he is sure he sentenced Judge formally. He believes, however, that his clerk neglected to make an entry of the formal sentence on the record.

90,000 DONATED IN HEALTH SEAL CAMPAIGN HERE

Final Returns Expected to Bring Total Above 100,000—76,000 Children Also Helped.

The number of firms and persons who have contributed to the 1924 Christmas Health Seal Campaign of the Tuberculosis Society of St. Louis already totals more than 90,000. This number does not include the 76,000 school children who donated their pennies and nickels on School Day. These facts have been made public by officers of the organization.

Last year the Society had more than 100,000 contributors, and it is expected that the final returns will show an increase this year. The campaign formally ended Christmas eve, but the returns will continue to come in for the next few months, according to Homer Hall, president of the society. During the month of January last year the returns were especially heavy. The returns from the county have been quite incomplete on account of the zero weather, but reports thus far tabulated show an increase over last year.

Much Interest Displayed in Cross-Word Puzzles

Since the cross-word puzzle craze, publishing houses report they are turning out as many dictionaries in a month as they formerly produced in a year, and yet cannot meet the demand. A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga.

25-YEAR TERM OF ST. LOUIS WOMAN FOR MURDER UPHELD

Division No. 2 of Supreme Court Holds Age of Rosie Davis Had No Effect on Guilt.

SPECIAL TO THE POST-DISPATCH. JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 2.—Division No. 2 of the Supreme Court Wednesday affirmed the conviction and 25-year sentence of Rosie Davis of St. Louis, for the murder of William Ellis at 2023 Biddle street on July 11, 1923.

The Ellis and Davis families both resided at the Biddle street address. The Davis girl fatally stabbed Ellis with a butcher knife in a quarrel which started when Ellis objected to a small brother of the Davis girl playing in the back yard.

When arrested Rosie Davis gave her age to the police as 20, but it later was contended that she was only 16 years old at the time of the killing. She pleaded self-defense. Upon appeal, attorneys for the defense contended that error was committed in the trial court because the correct age of the defendant was not submitted to the jury.

Judge White, in the opinion affirming the conviction, held that the age of the defendant had no effect upon the determination of her guilt or innocence of the charge, and that no error had been committed in the trial. Judge David E. Blair concurred and Judge Walker was absent.

MAYOR RESIGNS UNDER FIRE

Carolinian Too Flect for Bullets. Though, of a Barber Husband.

By the Associated Press. HENDERSONVILLE, N. C., Jan. 2.—The Board of Aldermen today awaited receipt of a resignation which last night was reported written by Mayor Sam Bryson. The resignation of Bryson developed from a personal encounter between himself and B. L. Brooks, a barber, when the latter found him in his home. The Mayor is said to have avoided these bullets fired at him by the barber by running.

At the instigation of Brooks, who is suing the Mayor for $50,000 for alleged alienation of his wife's affections, a warrant of attachment has been lodged against Bryson's property here. The Mayor is reported to be in Asheville.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

The name and address of the author must accompany every contribution, but on request will not be published. Letters not exceeding 200 words will receive preference.

"Feed the Birds."

FEED the birds seems to be quite generally advocated at the present time and from a humanitarian standpoint sounds good, but the writer wishes to say he was a town clerk over in Illinois a few years ago and issued hundreds of warrants for the heads of sparrows at 2 cents a head, so why if they are such a pest that a state makes a law to exterminate them should we waste our good bread in keeping them alive? And they are, it might be said, our only bird in the winter time here in St. Louis.

And more, why should the farmer feed to keep alive his friend, the quail, for the city sports to hunt with dog and pump gun while the farmer is too busy gathering his corn during the hunting season to kill any of the birds he has raised? Hunters are a great nuisance to the farmer, as they frighten and sometimes kill his stock and many times tear down his fences and let his stock out, so why should birds be fed by the farmer for the town sports who laugh at him and call him an old hussy?

AN OLD FARMER IN ST. LOUIS.

The destruction of insects which is necessary to save vegetation from being destroyed, is the great mission of birds, without whose services not only the farms but the forests would be stripped of greenery. Animal life, including bird man, would then perish. The incidental feeding of town or English sparrows, and the shooting of quail in season, has very little to do with the problem. The birds must be fed.—Ed. Post-Dispatch.

Veterans Are Grateful.

THE patients at the United States Veterans' Hospital No. 92, Jefferson Barracks, Mo., wish to extend to the people of St. Louis, the various civic, religious, fraternal and patriotic organizations, the St. Louis Film Exchange, the Movie Operators Local No. 143, the wholesale and retail merchants of the city, the Peoples' Bus Co., the theaters of the city and the St. Louis newspapers, our sincere appreciation of the kindness shown us during the past year and wish you all a happy and prosperous New Year.

Was This Justice?

FOR such offenses as passing a boulevard stop sign or a street car, the motorist is fined from $10 to $25. It is with this understanding that I write the following:

Recently, a machine swerving from one side of the street to the other, going east on Chouteau, failed to make the boulevard stop at Grand and ran headlong into a truck, which was unable to avoid him. The offender was arrested on four charges: Driving while intoxicated, careless driving, passing a boulevard stop, and driving on the wrong side of the street.

The trial ended with the acquittal of the defendant on all four charges, not even paying the damage to the other machine. Is not this a denial of justice? E. H. S.

What Mercury Did.

HAVE you ever seen the little planet, Mercury? Wherever the sun is, Mercury is close to it; either above the sunset when Mercury is coming toward us in its little path it round the sun at 25 miles a second, or it is above the sunrise when it is receding from us.

This little ruby-like spot in the sky is worth noticing, as it causes a two weeks' cool effect followed by a two weeks' warm effect upon our weather about three times a year; a secret truth that has been kept hidden since the foundation of the world.

It has just caused the world's two weeks of blizzards and cold waves by pushing us away from the warm sun as it approached us in its path east of the sun; and from Jan. 1 to 13 it will cause us two weeks' warm effect upon our winter weather by causing more pleasant and moderate spells, as it can be seen above the sunrise moving away from us and withdrawing its repelling force from us as it goes back in its little path around the sun, thus allowing the earth to move in toward the warm sun.

D. A. N. GROVER.

THE NEW YEAR'S TASK.

Secretary Hoover, who is perhaps the best mind on economics in the administration, offers grateful information in regard to economic conditions. Analyzing the situation the world over, he finds the outlook for 1925 better than it has been since the war.

According to his view, the situation in America is exceptionally good. The factor which has contributed most to our improvement is the recovery in the price of agricultural products, which has in a measure restored prosperity among the farmers and vastly increased the purchasing power in the country. The average of wholesale prices of commodities is about 50 per cent above pre-war prices. The cost of living is about 72 per cent. On the other hand, he finds wages 100 per cent in advance—the highest wage level in history.

Foreign trade is far from satisfactory, but is showing signs of improvement. We are selling abroad goods the value of which exceeds by about a billion the value of the goods we are buying. But this flow of money is offset to a considerable extent by what he calls invisible exchanges—expenditures on account of foreign travel, and loans.

International trade, on the whole shows a larger movement than at any time since the war, and employment generally the world over is much better.

Mr. Hoover doesn't find conditions abroad as good as they ought to be. Germany, however, shows signs of recuperation on account of the acceptance of the Dawes plan, the stabilizing of German currency and the German budget, and the increase of production. Conditions in Great Britain, France, Italy and Belgium are steadily improving. And this is true of quite a number of European countries which are at work.

The Secretary, however, ignores our relations with Europe except in the matter of loans, fresh mortgages on the earning capacity of European peoples. The one point on which we are credited with helping the European situation, apart from loans, is the Dawes plan, which was an individual, not a governmental contribution. The value of that contribution has not yet been definitely settled, on account of the vexing problems of debts and reparations.

How much better conditions generally might have been if we had joined heartily in co-operative efforts to establish peace and settle all the problems growing out of the war cannot be estimated. If the richest and most powerful nation in the world had worked in harmonious conjunction with other nations, we might have been far on the road to complete rehabilitation of the civilized world. The world would certainly have been farther on the road towards the guaranteeing of peace, which is the foundation of prosperity.

We have yet much to do in the way of co-operative efforts, but fortunately, despite the obstruction of the isolation group, we are moving in that direction. Conditions are at least improving, and persistent work, moral and physical—work in industry and work in promoting better understandings and more thorough co-operation—will solve all problems. This is the task for the new year.

UNSAFE SAFETY ZONES.

Two persons killed and half a dozen seriously injured by automobiles while waiting in safety zones to board street cars is Detroit's sad record for the Christmas season. In one accident an entire family was run down by an automobile driver. Crowding of one automobile by another in an effort to pass appears to have been the cause of the invasion of the safety zones. Similar accidents here are too frequent.

Detroit's Traffic Director says that there is no excuse for such killings, which are due to recklessness. But what everyone is more interested in is the problem of making them impossible. As to this, the Traffic Director believes that, in the case of safety zones on wide streets, where those waiting for street cars must stand unprotected several feet from the sidewalk, subways will have to be built from sidewalk to safety zone, and safety zones will have to be made impregnable, so that automobiles striking them will be wrecked.

These are radical suggestions. But at whatever cost something must be done to safeguard pedestrians who must use safety zones, so called, which are more dangerous than the sidewalks.

FIRETRAP SCHOOL CONSTRUCTION.

The schoolhouse holocaust at Babbs' Switch, Ok., in which 36 victims were burned to death, has moved the State authorities to institute an inquiry as to how many schoolhouses are of a similar construction, making them firetraps. The building that burned had but one exit, a door opening inward. And the windows were covered with strong wire netting, to keep out intruders, those responsible for this precaution forgetting that it might prevent those within from escaping in case of fire or panic.

It will be recalled that the fire which destroyed the schoolhouse at Collinswood, O., in 1908, when 174 children and their teachers were burned to death or trampled under foot, had this awful record because of the fact that the doors opened inward, so that it was impossible to escape in the panic.

How many schoolhouses, especially in country districts of Missouri, have a single door, opening inward? How many have been inspected with a view to making them reasonably safe against fire or panic? Is it not time to follow the example of Oklahoma, before we are visited with a shocking disaster?

To the coal man every little shiver has a meaning all its own.

THE BESTOWAL OF PROSPERITY.

Industrial chiefs, financiers and railroad magnates agree that 1925 will be a banner year in business, perhaps the greatest in American history. Judge Gary reviews the ups and downs of 1924, a year of irregularities and small profits. But, "as predicted by some of us," says Gary, "the election of the Republican national candidates has had a marked effect upon the steel industry." Thereafter all was bright. Demand immediately increased, and present demand is "large, persistent and satisfactory." Also, he noted, "selling prices have advanced to a considerable extent," the benefit, of course, not going to the corporation but to "afford reasonable profits sufficient to continue wage rates at the present standard."

Why this rebirth of business spirit and courage immediately after election? No new measures have been enacted to improve or alter the business status, nor is there any prospect of such for probably a year.

In case of Coolidge's defeat no menace impended outside of the imaginations of a few self-interested alarmists.

The fact is that big business picked the Coolidge ticket as its natural ally and bent its powerful resources toward the election of that ticket. Its powerful resources included not only the machinery of propaganda and stage management to impress the unwary, but the power to withhold or bestow prosperity. Big business predicted panic and depression in the event of the defeat of Coolidge, and prediction means a great deal when accompanied by the power of fulfillment. Business has had its way and has already begun to bestow prosperity.

The American people have been taught a lesson. They have been taught that if they vote with big business all will go well and, if they vote against big business, to beware. Whether this lesson means insurance against hunger remains to be seen. It does not mean a free exercise of the ballot.

A CASE FOR REASON.

The French Minister of Finance, M. Clementel, made a statement in yesterday's paper which deserves immediate friendly consideration by President Coolidge.

"France can and will pay her obligations, but can't promise when or how until she knows where she stands respecting the German reparations, which are yet unsettled. I don't mean to link the two questions, but it is evident France's capacity to pay will be increased or lowered by the amount she collects in reparations. If the Dawes plan works and we get reparations, we shall be able to pay America and Britain."

"It is not a question of policy but of fact. If anyone could guarantee us today that we will receive all reparations due from Germany, we could immediately settle with America and Britain for full eventual liquidation of debts."

This is a true statement of the case, and its good faith ought not to be questioned. There are extreme sections of French opinion, of course, as there are of German opinion, which favor repudiation. But for the moderate parties in both countries the willingness to pay depends upon fixing a reasonable sum and upon discovering a practicable method of paying it without shattering the exchange. The administration ought to be able to see that the problem of payment by France is in principle the same as was the problem of payment by Germany.

The French, under M. Clementel, now openly recognize this and ask for the application of the Dawes idea to the debt problem. What is the Dawes idea? It is, in the words of Secretary Hughes, the use of disinterested expert ability "not to determine, but to advise, not to bind Governments, but to inform them." To advise them and inform them about what? In the case of Germany it was to suggest how much Germany could pay annually and how she could pay it. The Dawes committee had to consider the whole reparations problem—that is to say, all of the assets and all of the liabilities of Germany.

Now, France has a foreign debt to Britain and America which is almost the same size as Germany's active debt. France's assets are in part the speculative payments of Germany. Is there not deep sense in the proposal that a new committee of experts be appointed to report a solution of the debt-funding problem? Such a report would lift the question out of politics. Its object would be "not to determine, but to advise, not to bind Governments, but to inform them." How can Mr. Coolidge, how can Gen. Dawes, how can Secretary Hughes reject such a proposal after all they have preached and practiced since that day in December, 1922, when Secretary Hughes made his famous New Haven speech. They are committed up to the eyes to the Dawes method of dealing with a tangled international economic question.

LABOR UNION SCHOLARSHIPS.

With the co-operation of the Washington University Student Loan and Scholarship Association, St. Louis labor organizations hope to establish at least 25 scholarships, to be financed through cash contributions from members of the unions. The object is stated to be the need for better educated labor leaders, through whom labor can come into more direct contact with various strata of society than is possible under present conditions.

The scheme has valuable possibilities, if it can be made successful. The ideal contact between labor and capital is the amicable meeting around a table, of duly accredited representatives, all of whom are educated, capable men. Nothing is more productive of misunderstanding in labor disputes than the presence of ignorant leaders, suffering perhaps from what is called the inferiority complex, and feeling themselves handicapped by the trained intelligence of their antagonists.

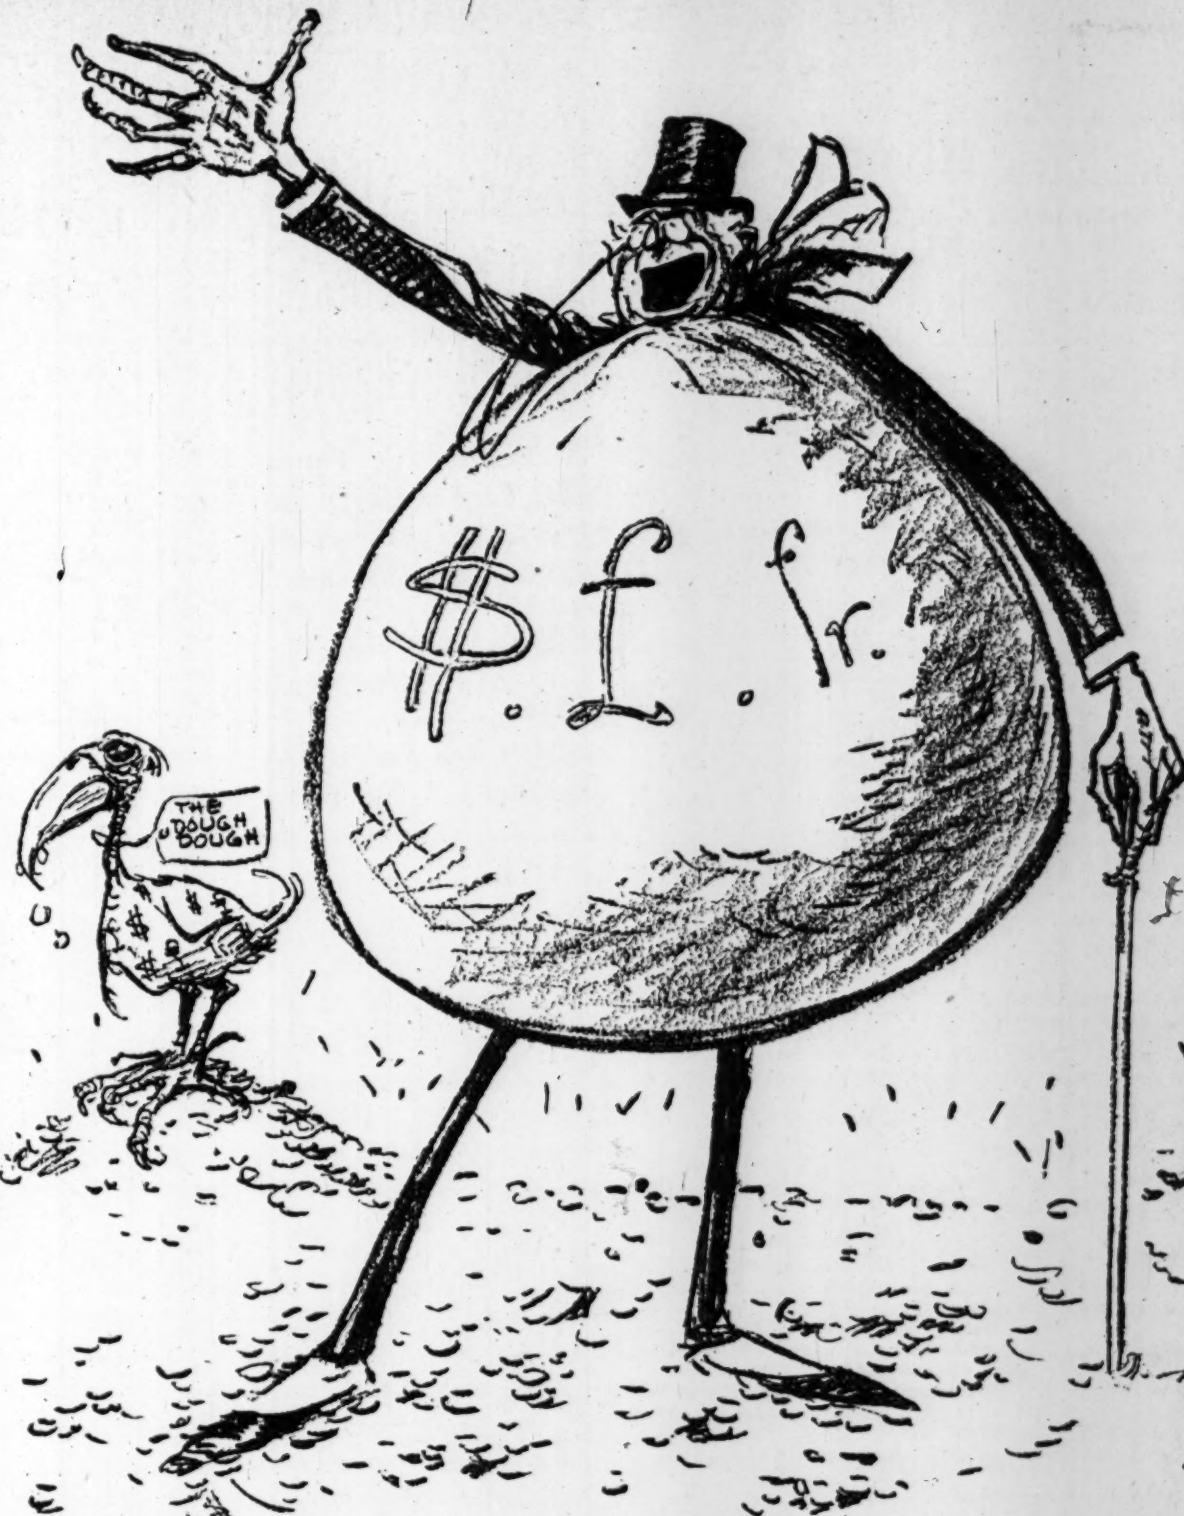

If labor can start banks, and make them successful, it should be able to finance these scholarships, out of which might come leaders capable of constructive work along other lines, especially in the cultivation of good will, based on the knowledge that such leaders were enlightened, educated men, who could be relied upon to act wisely and for the best interests of all concerned, including the public.

BLOODCURDLING IS RIGHT.

The poet who first tacked "bloodcurdling" onto an adventure or experience may have been wiser than he knew. Anyhow, he spoke the truth, as science tardily testifies. Recent laboratory tests, we are informed, prove that fear does literally curdle the blood.

The ancient rhymester who fashioned this sanguinary adjective is far beyond the reach of earthly plaudits now. No testimonial can quicken his pulse or flush his cheek with pleasure. Nevertheless, we take delight in honoring him and acknowledging our debt. The full measure of the debt is yet to be determined. It may well turn out that pathological conditions which thus far have defied the physician's skill can be met and routed by a quick and thorough curdling of the blood. That is speculative, to be sure, but speculation, which is only an aspect of imagination at work, leaves its imprint somewhere on every advance in the supreme art of living.

This old poet—the Homer, it may be, of the Neanderthals; perhaps a Cro-Magnon laureate—well, this old poet has rendered posterity one service about which there can be neither surmise nor conjecture. The makers of the cross-word puzzles, we predict, will presently utilize his genius. "Something that curdles the blood" will be found in the key list and the diagram will show four spaces. And all will be baffled except the chosen few who read the editorial page and keep up with the march of science.

SOCRATES AND HIS PUPILS.

Socrates: Last night at the Agora we talked about the United States. The United States, as you know, is the richest country in history.

Glaucon: As the British and some others are pointing out. Socrates: Precisely. We have most of the gold in the world, and it may be said that we have nothing to do with it. The rest of the world is in no condition to become a buyer of either our raw materials or our manufactured products. The banks are stuffed with money, private investments are not what they should be, and when the Secretary of the Treasury offers $10 worth of Government bonds for sale a lot of people are trampled to death.

Thrasymachus: I know I lost my hat and one shoe when the last Government bonds were placed on sale. Socrates: Exactly. The next time you will likely lose your life. We need some great national enterprise into which to pour wealth. If you know the history of Rome you will recall that when this sort of thing happened the Romans always launched some magnificent project. It was one of the things that made Rome. She knew better than to let her wealth and her energy lie idle. That is why, long after the Roman culture, we have still the physical reminders over a vast area that Rome in her heyday was indeed great.

Polemarchus: Very well, Socrates, what do you suggest?

Socrates: They asked me that at the Agora. It is the business of Coolidge to suggest what we should do. That is what he is there for. If he were a man like the Emperor Claudius, or any one of a half dozen of the Emperors of Rome, he would let this moment be telling us what we should do.

Thrasymachus: We ought not, as he seems to think, be merely saving money. Socrates: Jove, no! We should be spending money as no people ever spent it because no other nation ever had so much money to spend. Money is not made by saving money. That is an absurdity thrust upon us by savings banks. Money is made by spending money. Suppose we all determined to spend no more money and simply sat down on what we have.

Glaucon: That would be ruin, of course. Socrates: Certainly. But let us say that some great national project were undertaken in which everybody could invest. Say we set out upon some enterprise like deepening the Mississippi River and its tributaries, designing the greatest system of used inland waterways in the world. What a difference it would make to us all, just as years ago, we enjoyed the same sort of stir over the Panama Canal.

Thrasymachus: You have a great idea, Socrates!

Polemarchus: Zounds, yes!

Socrates: Very well. Now let us think if there is something else.

A 13-year-old Missouri girl has just prevented a bank robbery, probably having it in mind to rob the average Sheriff.

THE MAN WITH THE PUTTER.

Bowed with the weight of centuries he leaned Upon his hoe and gazed upon the ground, And from his hopeless face the poet gleaned A pathos that was really most profound.

But that, my friends, was twenty years ago, Who would have thought that change could be so utter? He hoed his row and hunched his dough; Today, behold him flourishing his putter! —KETCH PRESTON, in Chicago News.

COLLEGIATE PHILOSOPHY.

The best thing that could be unearthed in old Tut's tomb would be a world supply of old-fashion modesty.

The woman who credits her failings to the mystery of "her nature" has spring as her season. It's the wrong date that has no yearning. When a fellow lets his conscience be his guide he better stay on a familiar street. The fellow that hunts for a soft job has a hard time. The merry widow is soon married. Lots of fellows get a girl's hand when they don't ask for that. He who drinks of love and tastes only the sweetness of the nectar has bought of Cupid's worst bootlegger.

If you think love has treated you harshly you may feel consoled by knowing that nearly all geniuses have had sorrowful love affairs.

Women always place a man as conceited who attempts to analyze their actions, thus showing the same weakness in themselves.

A fellow will learn that a lot of girls who have the grit to dance all night have not the strength to live in any place but "an apartment."

A man who trusts all to a woman's discretion can't be trusted.

MARLOWE BAILEY.

THE CRUCIBLE OF TIME.

Into the melting pot of time, Written in prose or inscribed in rhyme Are poured all things that are known of men.

Of those that's present, and that have been, The small and great from the dust of earth To the whirling planets that suns gave birth.

The things that creep and the things that fly, The oceans vast and the deserts dry, The granite mount and the level plain, The streams that water and streams that drain.

The ice-bound wastes of the planet's poles And the steaming zones of the torrid folds The things of nature and things of art, And all that is in which man takes part.

Since time began until time shall end Are reduced by time to the lasting blend, And the things that perish and things that waste.

That are sought by man in his foolish haste, Dissolve and vanish and cease to be, But man himself will remain to see How he placed his trust in the things that rot.

The things that were, but that now are not, Or by wisdom's choice and the light of truth, In the "melting pot" shall renew his youth And pass from time to eternity.

A part of that, that shall ever be.

PUBLIC OPINION

This column is designed to reproduce without bias the latest comment by the leading publicists, newspapers and periodicals on the questions of the day.

PRACTICAL IDEALISM.

From the Chicago News.

THE splendid donations to colleges, technical schools, hospitals, churches and deserving pension funds just announced by two successful American business men, James B. Duke and George Eastman, well exemplify practical idealism. Mr. Duke holds education according to rational standards to be, next to religion, the most civilizing influence in the modern world, and he recognizes the imperative need of sound training for professional men and leaders of thought. His sympathy with the sick poor leads him to make liberal provision for hospital facilities. Mr. Eastman selects certain well-established institutions of higher learning for his benefactions and sets an admirable example in stressing the need of proper aid and support for the Hampton-Tuskegee type of institution that is doing so much to advance the moral and material welfare of the country's negro population. Americans are charged with excessive and selfish materialism by some of the self-styled advanced journals of opinion. To relieve them, American men of affairs think of nothing save ruthless money-making.

The facts of American life constantly refute this notion. Americans believe in work, in efficiency, in incessant efforts at improvement, in free play for faculties and talents. But the typical American likes to invest his surplus in enterprises that yield intellectual, moral and artistic dividends. He cherishes the things of the spirit and accepts as almost self-evident the principle of service and helpfulness.

FIDELITY TO LABOR CONTRACTS.

From the New York World.

NOT long ago a number of local mine workers' unions in the Pennsylvania anthracite region were outlawed by order of officials of the national organization because they persisted in an unauthorized strike. The penalty imposed upon them should stand as a warning to others in the Scranton field who are now considering whether they will strike without regard to their contracts. They have already been notified by district officials that by striking they will violate union laws. Organized labor can not fail to view with misgivings these industrial disturbances in Pennsylvania. For it may expect that they will be used to discredit both the principle and practice of collective bargaining. When miners or any other union workers refuse to be bound by their contracts and repudiate their officials' acts they are deliberately attacking the interests of organized labor as a whole. They are undermining a system which labor, under intelligent leadership, has consistently sought to fortify. The mine workers' leaders have taken a firm stand in the Pennsylvania case against any course tending to irregularity or disrespect for union laws. They realize that, for labor, good contracts must stand against both parties. They know that to the limit of their powers they must, for labor's sake, enforce discipline or punishment. They see plainly that they are facing a crisis.

PRESIDENT GREETINGS
4000 VISITORS

Line at White House Reception Is Four and Half Hours Passing Executive.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Throwing open the doors of the White House to all who cared to call, President and Mrs. Coolidge received 4000 visitors at their New Year's reception.

The chief executive and his wife for four hours and a half stood in the blue room shaking hands with their callers and extending and receiving New Year's greetings. Beginning at 11 o'clock the reception was scheduled to end at 2:30, but when that hour arrived Mr. Coolidge directed that it be continued until all who desired had opportunity to call.

The number received was no greater than in previous years, but the proportion of the general public to the portion of the official was larger. Moreover, there was less formality about the affair than in the more recent years, some of the older White House attaches declaring it to be a reversal of the New Year's receptions of the previous period.

As customary the Cabinet, the diplomatic corps, Congress, the judiciary, high officers of the army and navy, and patriotic organizations were received first, but this portion of the reception took only an hour. Then Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge retired for luncheon and within half an hour began receiving the general public, several hundred of whom had been waiting in line for two hours, despite a cold, damp day.

Those who passed before the President, men and women of four score or more years and babes in arms, members of all races, bankers and laborers.

Both the President and Mrs. Coolidge often stopped to talk with some of those they knew personally, some aged man or woman, or some child. The President talked several minutes with one Grand Army of the Republic veteran, R. G. Scott, of Linn Creek, Mo., who as a member of the 24th Iowa Infantry, attended the New Year's reception in 1864, given by President and Mrs. Lincoln.

Unknown to the President or many of the callers Death appeared at the gates of the White House grounds while the reception was in progress and took Samuel D. Boss, an aged employee of the Postoffice Department. Boss, a member of the Association of Oldest Inhabitants of the District of Columbia, was standing in line just inside the grounds, when he became suddenly ill and died from apoplexy before friends could summon aid.

DR. WILLIAM T. CONWAY DIES
UNEXPECTEDLY AT HIS HOME

Chief Inspector of U. S. Bureau of Animal Husbandry Succumbs From Heart Attack.
Dr. William T. Conway, chief inspector of the Bureau of Animal Husbandry, United States Department of Agriculture, died suddenly of heart disease at his home, 4313 Lindell boulevard, at 2 p. m. yesterday. He was 46 years old and had been an employee of the bureau for many years. Until stricken yesterday, he had disclosed no evidence of serious illness.

Dr. Conway was made inspector in charge of the St. Louis office of the bureau last October, when he was transferred here from Pittsburgh, Pa., where he previously had been engaged in Federal work. He had resided in St. Louis at intervals, however, for the last 20 years.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary Harris Conway, and three children, Mary Margaret, William T. Jr. and Joseph. Funeral services will be held from undertaking parlors at 3845 Lindell boulevard to the New Cathedral at 8:30 a. m. tomorrow. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery.

Mother of Leo Frank Dies

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Mrs. Roy Frank, mother of Leo Frank, who was lynched near Marietta, Ga., in 1915, is dead here from heart disease. Frank was convicted of the murder of a 14-year-old girl in a pencil factory and was sentenced to death. His lynching followed an announcement that the Governor of Georgia had commuted his sentence to life imprisonment.

$350,000 Gift From Rockefeller.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Announcement of a grant of $350,000 to the American Association for the Advancement of Science by the Rockefeller Foundation was made here yesterday by officers of the association. The money will be used for the publication of abstracts and reviews of scientific articles on biological subjects.

EVOLUTION OF A DEFINITE AMERICAN RACE INDICATED

Is Composed of Persons With Native Ancestry of 8 Generations and Is Tallest White Race.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Signs of the evolution of a definite American race were presented by Dr. Alex Hrdlicka, anthropologist of the National Museum, at a discussion of tests of immigrants before the foreign section of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. Dr. Hrdlicka said, in a composed entirely of persons with a native ancestry extending back three generations, and is specifically characterized by the tallest stature of any white race.

Present immigration tests and restrictions were condemned by Dr. Hrdlicka and Dr. Frank Boas of Columbia University. Both agreed that the classification of immigrants by nationality was "stupid and unscientific" and asserted that classification by individual family lines was the only method of value. Dr. Boas said cultural habits and training were of equal importance with heredity, while measurements of immigrants were said by Dr. Hrdlicka to have shown no inferiority with corresponding native social classes. Present restrictions on immigration were not based on science, but on "intolerance and bias," Dr. Hrdlicka asserted.

A ROWDY EVE IN OLD BERLIN

Doctors and Police Kept Busy by New Year's Celebrators.
(By radio to the Post-Dispatch and the Chicago Daily News.)
(Copyright, 1925.)

BERLIN, Jan. 2.—The New Year was ushered in by an old-fashioned rowdy New Year's eve—the first since 1914—in which 260 Berliners received some kind of public medical assistance and 253 were arrested and released. Some 12,000,000 ritual pancakes and 400,000 no less ritual carp were eaten. The theaters charged huge prices for their seats—and were filled to overflowing. The night restaurants did a business comparable to that of American cities. Bands of revelers wandered the streets of West Berlin until 6 o'clock in the morning, tooting their horns. Many persons were so happy when the midnight whistles blew that they emptied their revolvers into the air. Two persons were injured by stray bullets.

Immigrants were said by Dr. Hrdlicka to have shown no inferiority with corresponding native social classes. Present restrictions on immigration were not based on science, but on "intolerance and bias," Dr. Hrdlicka asserted.

4 WOMEN IN HOSPITAL AFTER TAKING POISON

Three of Patients Admit Attempt to End Lives, According to Physicians.

Four women are receiving treatment at the city hospital for poison taken yesterday. Three admit the poison was taken with suicidal intent, while the fourth told physicians she mistook a creosote solution for grape juice, and drank it.

Mrs. Leola Turnbull, 25 years old, is in a serious condition from swallowing a number of mercury tablets at her apartment, 5544 Pershing avenue, last night, following a quarrel with her husband, Frank Turnbull, 32 years old, an office manager. She said the quarrel followed her husband's refusal to cease contributing a substantial portion of his income to his parents, who, she says, are in comfortable circumstances.

Mrs. Nona Monahan, 28, a widow, swallowed poison at her home, 2848 South Fourth street, at 7 p. m. She told hospital attendants she took the poison when her mother reprimanded her for returning home at daylight from a New Year's eve celebration. She will recover.

Mrs. Josephine Fortis, 35, 5121 Wilson avenue, is in a serious condition from poison, which she drank at her home in the afternoon. She told physicians she tried to take her life following a quarrel with her husband. She is expected to recover.

Miss Mamie McDowell, 23, of 5652A Easton avenue, is being treated for poison, which she said she mistook for grape juice. Her condition is serious.

AMERICANISM SAFEGUARDED Report on Biological Study of Present Immigration Laws.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—The future of Americanism in the United States will be safeguarded under the provisions of existing immigration laws, according to findings of a third biological study of this question made by Dr. Harry H. Laughlin of the Carnegie Institute of Washington for the House Immigration Committee. Chairman Johnson of the committee has made public a synopsis of the report, which said that immigration formerly was looked upon "as a matter of asylum; then America established the economic basis for regulations, but now the recent legislation has made inborn quality of the immigrant as a progenitor of future Americans, the primary basis."

Analysis taken over the decade ending in 1920 showed "the immigrant women are reproducing much more rapidly than the older stock. The fecundity index for the whole population was found to be 46; for the white population, 47; for the negro population, 42; foreign-born, 71 and the native-born white, 42."

Boy Scouts Catch Smuggled Aliens.
MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 2.—In the hands of immigration employees after the reported payment of large sums to smugglers, 18 alleged aliens today awaited action of Government officials here. The party which was landed from small boats on the shore of Biscayne Bay, near Cutler, 10 miles south of this city, was captured after the alleged aliens were driven by hunger to appeal to an American for aid. He started for Miami with the entire party, but 18 made their escape en route. Three of these were caught later in a restaurant awaiting food, and the other dozen were found in Hialeah by Miami boy scouts, and arrested.

BRITISH REFUSE TO O K COLOGNE NOTE TO GERMANY Continued From Page 17.

President said, "The critical situation" must be solved by friendly negotiation in the spirit of the London pact, which led to adoption of the Dawes plan. He urged party differences at home be set aside "so that the shadows which at this moment darken the dawn of 1925 disappear."

Mr. Pacelli, the papal nuncio, then spoke of "the deep and painful sorrows of the moment," and prayed for a year of "brotherly love, justice and peace."

Appeals to Ambassadors' Council; Would Live on Royal Domain at Godollo With Prince Otto.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Jan. 2.—Former Empress Zita of Austria-Hungary has appealed formally to the Ambassadors' Council for permission to return to Hungary with Crown Prince Otto and the rest of her family, to reside on the crown domain at Godollo, according to a special dispatch from Budapest.

She asserts that it is necessary Otto should be in Hungary when the King is chosen, and adds that the peace treaty does not forbid his return. Zita has just received $100,000 from monarchist friends in Hungary, which she has deposited in a Spanish bank, the dispatch said.

JONES, CHOSEN AS REFORMER, QUILTS
UNDER INDICTMENT

Grand Jury Returns
Charges Against County Prosecutor on His Last Day in Office.

CORRUPTION IN OFFICE ALLEGED

Accused of Failure to Prosecute Two Liquor Cases and of Agreement to Dismiss Other Charges.

Adam Henry Jones, former Prosecuting Attorney of St. Louis County, who rode into office on a reform wave two years ago, vehemently announcing that bootleggers, gamblers, perpetrators of the 1922 primary election fraud and all other lawbreakers would be prosecuted vigorously, has stepped out of his official position under four indictments charging him with "corrupt failure to prosecute two liquor cases and with corrupt agreement to dismiss charges in connection with a robbery."

The indictments were voted by the grand jury Wednesday afternoon. The last day of Jones' two-year term, in pursuance to instructions from Circuit Judge Wurdeman to investigate his integrity and effectiveness as a public official, particularly with regard to allegations of "protection" of bootlegging and slot-machine operation. One of the men who made those affidavits, Peter Gounis, former roadhouse proprietor, whom the 1923 grand jury called "one of four notorious law violators," has been questioned by the grand jury, which met again today and will be in session till Jan. 10.

Jones' Comment.
Jones was in a corridor of the Clayton Courthouse between his office and the grand jury room when the rumor that he had been indicted began to circulate. He shouted to reporters: "So they've indicted me, have they? Just what I wanted 'em to do. Got 'em in a nine-hole now." Someone called to him to "shut up" and he subsided.

Robert E. Roessel, Special Prosecuting Attorney, who has advised the grand jury in the Jones inquiry, will continue as special prosecutor when the cases against Jones are called, working with Fred E. Mueller, the new Prosecuting Attorney, who took the oath of office yesterday. Mueller announced they would do their best in the cases.

If Jones is convicted he would lose the right to vote or to hold any other public office in Missouri, under sections 2193 and 2194 of the Revised Statutes. Roessel said today. The maximum punishment otherwise upon conviction of each charge would be a $500 fine, three months in jail or both.

Caplases for Jones' arrest were issued today, but he appeared at the Courthouse at noon and surrendered, giving a bond of $500 on each charge, a total of $2000. Con P. Curran, president of the Con P. Curran Printing Co., signed the bonds.

ings. Jones dismissed the charge against another defendant because he was not ready to try it, and still another defendant was acquitted by court order because Jones presented no evidence. The remaining 65 were freed of charges by Jones' action Wednesday.

The liquor cases Jones dismissed Wednesday charged Rudolph G.

Fuchs, Mel C. Coblick and John Krohl with violations of the State liquor law.

The two indictments against Jones concerning liquor cases charge that he "unlawfully, willfully, knowingly and corruptly and pursuant to a corrupt agreement" failed to prosecute Charles Halloran and James Carcino for alleged liquor law violations. The other two indictments charge that Jones entered into a corrupt agreement to dismiss indictments charging Charles Silvers with assault to kill and with robbery. Silvers was indicted in connection with a roadhouse holdup in 1922, in which an officer killed one robber. Jones has contended that the Triple Shirt Sale

Over 15,000 Shirts

Finely made Shirts from well-known makers, including Wilson Brothers' seconds.

To move this great stock quickly we have placed an exceptionally low price on lots of three or more. You may select all from one group or from different groups at the "Triple Sale" price, provided your total purchase consists of at least three Shirts. As an example, you can take one Shirt from group No. 1 and two from group No. 2—the "Triple Sale" price on the three Shirts would then be $4.00.

Combinations of the other groups may be worked likewise.

The majority are Shirts from Wilson Brothers, which have not passed inspection, owing to slight misweaves in the fabrics.

Wilson Brothers' inspection is so rigid that most of the seconds of their lines are equal to many other makers' first quality. These seconds are clean, fresh stock—any which do not open up to your satisfaction may be returned.

INQUIRY INTO GRAIN
MANIPULATION URGEDKansas City Labor Editor
Charges Violation of Capper-Tincher Anti-Gambling Law.

By the Associated Press.
KANSAS CITY, Jan. 2.—A request for an investigation by the Department of Justice and the Department of Agriculture to charges that "Chicago Board of Trade manipulators" are violating the Capper-Tincher anti-grain gambling act, has been made by the Kansas City Labor News. It is announced by James H. Anderson, editor of the publication.

Anderson yesterday made public an exchange of correspondence with Attorney-General Stone, Secretary Gore and Dr. J. W. T. Duvel, grain exchange supervisor at Chicago, concerning the inquiry.

In response to a telegram from the labor paper demanding "immediate action by your department to correct the intolerable situation created by these manipulators of the country's food supply," Secretary Gore instructed that all evidence in possession of the publication be referred to Dr. Duvel.

Suggests Examination of Books.
Anderson telegraphed Dr. Duvel suggesting "it is the duty of your department to take the initiative and not put the burden upon private complainants of carrying on such investigation."

"I submit," the editor's message said, "that an immediate investigation of the records of the Chicago Board of Trade, showing the transactions of James A. Patten, Arthur Cutten and Julius Barnes, as well as an investigation of the books of brokerage firms through which they are operating, will furnish you an abundance of evidence."

Anderson referred Duvel to a recent editorial in the Trades Union News of St. Louis, charging that the Capper-Tincher bill is being violated and that the "Secretary of Agriculture sits idly by while farmers and workers are exploited."

Attorney-General Stone, who received a copy of Anderson's message to Gore in which reference was made to an alleged "gigantic grain corner of Cutten, Barnes and Patten," replied as follows:

"Department of Agriculture informs us its inquiry has failed to develop facts indicating corner in grain market by any individual or group of individuals. Requests you supply us all information of such corner and names and witnesses who have any knowledge of manipulation through large interests."

Wishes to Stone.
Anderson in a letter to Attorney-General Stone urged an independent investigation by the Department of Justice and suggested that an inspection of books of trade and brokerage firms records "should supply an abundance of evidence."

"Ugly rumors and charges have been in circulation charging that the grain speculators of the Chicago Board of Trade have been flagrantly violating the Capper-Tincher anti-grain gambling act and that these speculators because they had contributed thousands of dollars to the last Republican campaign fund, seemed to consider themselves immune from prosecution and from interference from the Department of Agriculture, that branch of the Government specifically charged with enforcement of the Capper-Tincher act," Anderson declares in an article in the Labor News today.

8-INCH SNOW IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—The heaviest snow since that which caused the famous Knickerbocker Theater collapse and disaster three years ago blanketed the national capital today, forced virtual suspension of street car traffic and generally tied up the city. Early this morning the snow lay eight inches on the level and a stiff wind had piled up huge drifts in the outlying sections.

At Baltimore the snow was so heavy that stores, offices and factories reported insufficient arrivals of workers to permit of even a semblance of ordinary operation.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—The first real snowstorm of this winter swirled down on New York today. The snow caused the thermometer to rise to 24 degrees. The Weather Bureau reported 1 1/2 inches of snow fallen at 8 a. m.

TWO SLAIN AT SUPPER TABLE

Officers of Fur-Trapping Concern Killed by Discharged Man.

LAKE CHARLES, La., Jan. 2.—John Springer of Lake Charles, superintendent of a fur-trapping company, and A. A. Hyrd of Nederland, Tex., his assistant, were shot and killed while eating New Year's supper at headquarters of the company at Johnson's Bayou, in Cameron Parish. Witnesses declare that Ned Harvey of Port Arthur, Tex., a discharged trapper, entered the room while intoxicated and shot down both men. He also shot at Otto Sacks, who was at the table, but the bullet went wild.

Harvey then obtained a boat and disappeared in the marshes. The Parish is without railroads, telephone or telegraph communications with the outside and news of the double killing reached here today by boat and courier. It is believed Harvey is headed for Texas. Speed boats were immediately dispatched to apprehend the slayer.

After the recovery of the $21,000 in bonds, the officers went to Memphis and returned with Mrs. Holliday's wife of Herber Holliday, convicted with five others of the robbery, and his niece, Helen McNeil.

The arrest of J. McKinney, said to have been Holliday's cellmate, when the latter was held in the Cook County jail in Chicago, resulted in the recovery of the $21,000 in bonds, according to reports.

Holliday is now serving a sentence of 25 years for his participation in the Roudout robbery. He was born and reared at Mamelle, Ark., a short distance west of Little Rock, and was arrested here when a search for him was made after the Roudout holdup.

GOLD PRODUCTION IN ALASKA INCREASES

Advance Estimates of Geological Survey for 1924 Also Show Smaller Copper Tonnage.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—The Department of the Interior has announced, through advance statements made by the Geological Survey, that mines in Alaska produced $17,670,000 worth of minerals in 1924, as against $20,330,000 worth in 1923. The total value of the mineral output of Alaska since 1880 is $535,600,000. The figures for 1924, which are estimates and subject to revision, are taken from the annual report on the mineral resources of Alaska, now in preparation. The source of this mineral wealth is approximately as follows:

	1923	1924
Gold	$5,885,314	$6,350,000
Copper	12,630,314	10,000,000
Silver	588,012	450,000
Lead	755,469	550,000
Marble, petroleum, tin, platinum, etc.	221,513	320,000

In spite of the gradual exhaustion of the richer gold placer deposits the gold output in 1924 was larger than in 1923. This increase was due mainly to activity at the lode mines in Southeastern Alaska, as there was a slight decrease in the amount of gold won from placers. The benefits to the gold-mining industry of interior Alaska that are certain to result from the completion of the Alaska railroad are rather slow to appear in the figures showing the production of gold, for the work of testing large areas of placer ground and the engineering work needed to complete ditches and install dredges or other power-driven mining machinery require considerable time. The result of operations so large and of increased prospecting for metal-bearing lodes will eventually be an increase in production. The decrease in the total value of the mineral output of Alaska in 1924 from that in 1923 may be attributed almost entirely to the smaller production of copper and the much lower average price of that metal. The value of the copper produced was also smaller in 1924 than in 1923.

TEMPERANCE ADVOCATE IS ELECTED MAYOR OF TORONTO

Charles Foster Favored Government Control of Liquors in His Campaign.

TORONTO, Jan. 2.—Charles Foster, who in his campaign favored Government control of the sale of spirituous liquors, has been elected Mayor of Toronto by a majority of about 2200 votes over his opponent, W. W. Holtz. Incumbent, Foster polled almost 35,000 votes. Holtz is the second Mayor to be refused a second term of office during the past 61 years. Two other candidates—H. Winberg and Samuel Fieldhouse—finished far behind the two leaders. The new Mayor-elect, who now holds the office of Controller, is a conservative and is dean of the City Council. He is a temperance advocate. The temperance act was an important issue, a number of "wets" throwing their support to Foster in order to make the Ontario temperance act an issue in the contest.

BITTEN ON NOSE BY HORSE

Archie Parker, Teamster, Loses Part of Member.

Archie Parker, 25 years old, a teamster, of 1015 Mount street, suffered the loss of part of his nose yesterday, when a horse bit him in the face. Parker told physicians at City Hospital that he was feeding his team of horses, when suddenly one of the animals stepped on his face, taking off the end of his nose. Parker is being treated at the hospital against possible infection.

CHILD BURNED BY POISON

Sidney Beach Jr., 3, Thought Liquid Was Soda Water.

Sidney Beach Jr., 3 years old, of 3043 Glasgow place, is in City Hospital in a serious condition as a result of poison which he obtained yesterday from a medicine cabinet while his mother's back was turned. The boy was drinking the poison when Mrs. Beach reached his side and knocked the bottle from his hand. His face and throat were burned, but doctors said he would probably recover. The child told his parents he thought the poison was soda water.

JONES, CHOSEN AS REFORMER, QUITS UNDER INDICTMENT

Grand Jury was acting illegally for various reasons and that the inquiry about him was for political expediency. Since the inquiry was ordered, Sept. 18 last, he fought the effort to investigate his conduct. He was successful in having the State Supreme Court prevent Judge Wurdeman's effort to remove him from office during the inquiry, but failed in an effort to prevent Roessel, who was appointed Dec. 1, from acting as Special Prosecutor.

The Democratic nomination went to Jones in 1922 because he was unopposed and the Clean Election League supported him in the election because Mueller, the Republican nominee, was held to be too friendly with the machine. Jones barely defeated Mueller, but Mueller, won by a big majority in the 1924 election. Jones succeeded the late A. C. Sluever as a member of the Democratic State Committee.

JUDGE GAYER SWORN IN ON BENCH OF FLOWERS

Succeeds Hochdoerfer as Magistrate in Court of Criminal Correction.

Flowers banked high about the Judge's bench and overflowing to the desk of the clerk of the court, welcomed Paul A. Gayer, Republican, when he was sworn in as Judge of the Court of Criminal Correction to succeed Judge Anthony Hochdoerfer this morning.

The ceremony occurred in a crowded courtroom into which had swarmed figures of St. Louis political life, Circuit Judges and attaches of the Municipal Courts Building.

"I didn't know whether it was a wedding or a funeral," said Henry E. Caulfield, former City Council member, who welcomed the incoming Judge for the St. Louis Bar Association, "but I do know this, Judge Gayer is wedded to a hard job."

The oath of office was administered by the Clerk of the Court, Ferd. I. G. Knittel, after John R. McCarthy had introduced the new Judge. The latter paid high compliment to his predecessor, Judge Hochdoerfer, a Democrat, saying that in the four years he was on the bench not a single decision of his had resulted in criticism by the press.

William H. Hubele, Republican committeeman for the Seventh Ward, today took charge of the City Marshal's office by appointment of Mayor Kiel, succeeding Alton Schuler, recently elected Sheriff. Schuler began his term today, succeeding George W. Strodtmann, and appointed a staff of seven deputies. His office, in the basement of the old Court house, was decked with flowers, sent by friends, organizations and politicians in honor of his entry into office.

Several changes in assignments of Circuit Judges also were made today—Judges Hall, Landwehr, Hogan and Hartmann, who were re-elected, entering upon new terms of six years.

Under the new assignment schedule, Judge Calhoun becomes presiding Judge in the assignment court, succeeding Judge Falkenhalm, who goes to Division No. 14, an equity court. Judge Grimm leaves Division No. 4, a jury court, to relieve Judge Peary in Equity Court No. 2, and Peary begins his new duties in the Court of Domestic Relations. Judge Hartmann also goes to the Court of Domestic Relations, and Juvenile Division, relieving Judge Oasing who takes Judge Grimm's former Court, No. 4. Judge Hogan, a jury court, No. 6, and Judge Killoran is transferred at his own request to No. 5. Judge Frey leaves the old Court house, going to the Criminal Court, relieving Judge Knittel, who is transferred to a jury court, No. 7.

FORMER PRINCE WOUNDED AT NEW YEAR'S PARTY

Montenegrin Held as Witness in Killing of Denver Woman by Sailor.

DENVER, Jan. 2.—Police announced today that Tomo Gionovich, a member of the former Montenegrin royal family, was held as a material witness following the killing of Mrs. Mary Ludwick at a New Year's party here.

The former Prince was shot in the hand when Carlos Bedner broke up the party by shooting Mrs. Ludwick through the heart. Bedner then turned the weapon on the Montenegrin.

Bedner, disappointed author of Mrs. Ludwick, is believed to be dying in a hospital from a self-inflicted razor cut.

Gionovich became a citizen of the United States New Year's eve when he obtained naturalization papers. He is a guard at the United States Mint here. Police said he was innocent of any part in the tragedy and was being held only as a witness. He said he was a graduate of the University of Cetinje and left Montenegro when King Nicholas was banished.

Hackensack (N. J.) Official Turns Over $35,000 to Loan Concern.

HACKENSACK, N. J., Jan. 2.—N. Demarest Campbell, who has admitted moral responsibility for the shortage of $180,000 of the funds of the Industrial and Loan Association of Hackensack, was sworn in yesterday as Mayor of this city.

The disclosure of the shortage was made public after the election, in which Campbell defeated the Republican candidate in a Republican city by a majority of 800. Mayor Campbell yesterday transferred property valued at $25,000 to the directors of the building association towards making up the shortage.

FLAMES REFLECTED 40 MILES

Glow From Forest Fire Visible in Tucson (Ariz.)

TUCSON, ARIZ., Jan. 2.—The glow of flames against the sky for a distance of 40 miles was visible here last night. The glow was from a forest fire, it was impossible to ascertain the size of the area over which the flames spread or the damage caused. The nearest telephone to the scene of the fire is 20 miles away.

BETTER THAN WHISKEY FOR COLDS AND FLU

The sensation of the drug trade is Aspirinal, the two-minute cold and cough reliever, authoritatively guaranteed by the laboratories; tested, approved and most enthusiastically endorsed by the highest authorities, and proclaimed by the people as ten times as quick and effective as whiskey, rock and rye, or any other cold and cough remedy they have ever tried.

All drug stores are supplied with the wonderful elixir, so all you have to do is to step into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk half a dollar for a bottle of Aspirinal, and tell him to serve you two teaspoons.

Take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and children, for Aspirinal is by far the safest and most effective, the easiest to take and the most agreeable cold and cough remedy for children as well as adults. Quickest relief for a carpal group and children's chok-ing up at night.

Illinois Central System Says That Railroads Strive to Merit Public Confidence

Nearly five years have elapsed since the railroads began to operate under the terms of the Transportation Act of 1920. During all of this time the railroads have been on trial. The Transportation Act has been on trial. The public has been waiting to determine whether the new system would work, whether the railroads under it would be able to improve their facilities and service and establish themselves for the future.

For the first three years business conditions were unsettled, and the new system of regulation could not be said to have had a fair trial under normal conditions. In the two years that have just ended, conditions generally have been more nearly stable. Business has increased, prosperity has returned, and there has been an unprecedented demand for transportation service. These two years—1923 and 1924—constitute a reasonably fair test of private railway operation under the Transportation Act.

What have the railroads accomplished in these two years? They have put their properties in better condition than ever before in their entire history. In the two years they have raised and spent more than 2 billion 136 million dollars for improvements and extensions, in addition to large maintenance expenditures. These recent expenditures of more than a billion dollars a year for improvements and extensions compare with a pre-war average annual expenditure of only about half that amount.

With their improved facilities, the railroads have handled in the last two years the greatest volume of traffic ever known, and they have done so in a most satisfactory manner, with practically no shortage of facilities. By every test of operating efficiency, the railroads in these two years have improved immensely the character of their service to the public.

The railroads, however, cannot stop where they are. They must continue to keep pace with the growth of business. Their capacity is a limitation upon the country's prosperity, and they must grow if our greater population of the future is to have its full measure of prosperity. This dependence of prosperity upon adequate transportation makes the question of future railway growth a matter of the greatest public concern today.

The railroads have proved their confidence in the continued fairness of the public by making extensive investments for better service. By the result of the November election the public has indicated that it has confidence in the railroads. The railroads are going to strive to retain that confidence as their most valuable asset. They are planning now to spend 1 billion 100 million dollars for improved facilities in 1925, having an abiding faith that the public will permit them to realize a fair return upon their increased property investment.

In the improvements scheduled for 1925, the Illinois Central System, as usual, will be found in the front rank of progressive American railroads.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

C. H. MARKHAM,
President, Illinois Central System.

DRIVER IN AUTO FATALITY ORDERED HELD

Fred L. Frederici, Whose Car Hit J. S. Spatch, Accused of Criminal Carelessness.

On recommendation of a Coroner's Jury, the Circuit Attorney will ask that Fred L. Frederici of Riverview Garden, St. Louis County, driver of a motor car which struck and fatally injured John S. Spatch, 4507 North Second street, last Sunday night, be held on a $10,000 bond. The jury this morning found Frederici was criminally careless.

Spatch, who was struck as he crossed the street in front of the McKinley Traction Station, 3723 North Broadway, was dragged 100 feet, the car being brought to a stop only when it struck the curb and overturned. He was taken to city hospital, where he died of injuries Wednesday. Frederici is now being held in the city hospital, where he was treated for alcoholism.

George Brennan, a Fifth District patrolman and an eyewitness, who took Spatch and Frederici to the hospital, testified that Frederici was intoxicated and that he was traveling at a high rate of speed. Howard Cowell, 6328 North Broadway, who witnessed the accident and assisted Brennan in caring for the men, said the car was being driven about 30 or 35 miles an hour.

William Heldbrink of Riverview Garden, who was riding with Frederici, stated that the impact of the collision with Spatch threw him against the windshield, rendering him unconscious. He said that he and Frederici "had taken a few drinks."

Frederici made no statement.

MINISTER IS FOLLOWED INTO CHURCH, SLOGGED AND ROBBED

Rev. John O. Ensor Knocked Unconscious—Recovers Half an Hour Later.

The Rev. John O. Ensor, pastor of the Shaw Avenue Methodist Church, at Shaw and Tower Grove avenues, was followed into the church by an unidentified man about 6:30 p. m. yesterday, slogged on the head, and a few dollars taken from his pocket. The pastor was knocked unconscious and recovered about a half hour later. He found his own pocketbook on the steps leading into the church.

The pastor had entered the church by a side door, and intended to stay but a few minutes, did not lock the doors behind him. As he reached his study he heard steps, and as he turned about he was struck. He did not see his assailant.

FRENCH CITY QUIETED AFTER STRIKERS' RIOT

Communist Mayor Shot and Four Others Wounded in Disturbances at Douarnenez.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, Jan. 2.—The situation at Douarnenez, where strike rioting broke out yesterday and the communist Mayor was shot in the neck, was quiet today, according to the Ministry of the Interior.

It was stated that 11 persons had been arrested on the charge of participation in yesterday's disturbances. One of those arrested gave the name of Leon Raynier and described himself as a journalist.

In the rioting, five persons were wounded, the most serious being Mayor Lafanchec and his nephew.

CHINA TO BAR ESKIMOS

Cannot Enter Country Unless They Have Means of Sustenance.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—The Chinese authorities at Harbin, Manchuria, have declared they will oppose the entry into China from Vladivostok of the 12 American Eskimos recently landed there by the Bolsheviks from Wrangell Island, unless they can prove means of sustenance. The State Department has informed D. L. Sutherland, Alaska delegate to Congress, that diplomatic action on the part of the United States had been requested by Delegate Sutherland to return the Eskimos to American territory and to provide for their sustenance.

INDICTED, RE-ELECTS HIMSELF

Jersey City Councilman's Own Vote Keeps Him as Head of Police Body.

By the Associated Press.
JERSEY CITY, N. J., Jan. 2.—Harry J. Stearns, Weehawken, town councilman, yesterday was re-elected chairman of the Weehawken Police Committee by a vote of four to three. In spite of his indictment and that of nine members of the police force on charges of malfeasance in office in connection with alleged violations of the liquor act.

Stearns cast the deciding ballot for himself. Indirect overtures looking toward a full confession have been received from two of the nine indicted policemen, Aloysius McMahon, assistant prosecutor of Hudson County, announced.

ALERTNESS AND "OLD-FASHIONED FIGHT" WIN FOR NOTRE DAME

Layden and Huntsinger
On the Job When Breaks
Developed, Rockne Says

Two Intercepted Passes and One Recovered Fumble Yield Three of the Four Touchdowns Scored by the "Horsemen"—Victors Not in Best Condition.

By Knute Rockne,
Coach Notre Dame Football Team.

PASADENA, Cal., Jan. 2.—Alertness, being on the job all the time and old-fashioned fight carried the team of Notre Dame to a 21-10 victory over Stanford University. When the underdog Cardinal line, powerful fellows, well coached and thoroughly acclimated held our running plays in check it was the ability of Elmer Layden and of Huntsinger to profit to the full by mistakes of the Stanford team that put the Notre Dame victory across.

Layden twice intercepted forward passes and secured them from a passing attack that was as deadly in its efficiency as any that Notre Dame has faced. Both of these interceptions were followed by runs of 70 yards to touchdowns.

The interference of Layden's running mate, Crowley, helped immeasurably the first time, and on the second occasion several of the South Bend boys had a chance to fend off possible tacklers, as the Notre Dame fullback sped towards the goal.

Huntsinger's Alertness Brings Score.

Again, it was Huntsinger who scooped up the ball, or Stanford's safety-man had dropped a punt, and was somewhat slow in falling on it. Huntsinger might have been satisfied with falling on the ball. Instead, he scooped it up and ran for a touchdown.

It will be said that these were "breaks," and they were; but it is an old story that a successful football team is the one that takes advantage of the breaks and profits to the utmost by them.

Stanford, in Ernie Nevers, has as formidable a threat in the backfield as any team could ask. A powerful line-smasher, he ripped off yards and yards most of the time that he was called upon to try. He passed with a sure accuracy, and with little-like speed. It was no fault of Nevers that Stanford is not today the recognized football champion of the country.

Cuddack, next to Nevers, was ever a threat behind the Stanford line. It was his placement goal in the first period that gave his team a three-point lead over us; and

Notre Dame Players Not in Tip Top Condition Due to Their Long Journey

Notre Dame, I believe, suffered somewhat from the effects of its trip. However, credit must be given where credit is due; and Stanford was well-winded to give our team a battle. Warner switched from his power play, to passing and the open game with a suddenness that was startling.

Stanford's first offensive play was a forward pass, and after that they had the ball in the air quite frequently.

Notre Dame's running attack functioned nicely in the first period, when a march that started on a 20-yard line carried through to the Cardinal four-yard line before Stanford took the ball. In his march, Crowley, with two splendid runs, Miller and Layden, nicely dropped in for substantial yardage, and a forward pass from Stuhldreher to Miller accounted for the yardage.

Stuhldreher's fumble gave Cuddack a chance to score a field goal for the first Stanford points, but Notre Dame started right in with another running attack, and a punting back at the goal line when the quarter ended. Layden carried the ball over for our first score on the second play in the second period.

Layden scored on 70-Yard Run. Stanford made a determined effort to carry through to a touchdown and regain the lead; but Layden grabbed one of Nevers' passes on the Notre Dame 20-yard line and romped the required 70 yards for a second score. Crowley put a couple of would-be tacklers out of the play with great interference. This made the score 13 to 3. Again, Stanford drove to our goal line and seemed in a fair way to score when a fumble, recovered by Capt. Walsh, spelled ruin to the Cardinal hopes. Here again it was alertness that helped Notre Dame. The ball was on our 10-yard line when Walsh dropped on it.

In the third period, Stanford tried mightily to put across a touchdown, but before it materialized Hunt-singer contributed his bit to the entertainment and Notre Dame had another batch of points. Huntsinger scooped up the ball, when Solomon intercepted a pass by Walker to a touchdown. Score 20 to 2.

A forward pass, tried by Stuhldreher from within his own 25-yard line, resulted disastrously for Notre Dame, as Nevers intercepted it, and Stanford was not long in packing the ball over for its only touchdown of the day. Nevers' march, if possible by his line smasher, although a pass from Walker to Ted Stuhldreher accounted for its actual completion. Score, Notre Dame 20, Stanford 10.

Stanford threatened again on occasions, once driving to our 50-foot line, but the fighting Irish held fast and took the ball.

Layden Again on the Job. Just before the game ended Layden intercepted a pass by Walker and added a second 70-yard run to a touchdown to his collection, score 27 to 10. This was the final tally of an spectacular game, I am told, as the tournament of roses, annual East vs. West game ever produced.

Statistics Indicate Notre Dame Was Outplayed by Stanford

By the Associated Press. PASADENA, Cal., Jan. 2.—Trampled wreckage of Stanford's football hopes covered the turf of Rose Bowl today, evidence of the ruthless ride of the "Four Horsemen" who yesterday led Notre Dame to a 27-to-10 intercollegiate gridiron victory.

East outwitted West. Notre Dame was always where Stanford should have been, but was not. Such was the story.

Statistics Favor Stanford. Coach Glenn Warner's men gained 164 yards from scrimmage; Knute Rockne's swift South Bend boys gained only 124. The Cardinals registered 17 first downs; Notre Dame made seven.

Stanford completed 12 out of 17 attempted forward passes; Notre

Kid Kaplan and Kramer Box for Title, Tonight

Battle Will Be Windup of Feather Elimination Tourney in New York.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Danny Kramer of Philadelphia and Louis ("Kid") Kaplan of Meriden, Conn., are expected to fight their featherweight championship clash in Madison Square Garden tonight. They must weight 126 pounds or less at the office of the State Athletic Commission this afternoon.

Kramer entered the tournament as the favorite and in his first bout, with Mike Dundee of Rock Island, Ill., managed to obtain a decision. Dundee's manager, Dick Curley, was so incensed at the verdict that he attacked Referee Pat-ty Haley. He has been barred from New York boxing circles.

Kaplan connected Booby Garcia, the Mexican contender from Camp Holabird, Md., in the first battle of the eliminations, but not decisively. He earned his victory by losing an onslaught in the final round. However, he knocked out Jose Lombardo of Panama, in the semi-final after the Italian had defeated Lew Paluso of Salt Lake City, who barely made the weight.

Parke Suspended For Ten Days

RISE IN STOCK PRICES USHER IN NEW YEAR

Fractional Advances General With Some Wider Gains — Sterling Exchange Strong — Foreign Bonds Better.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

The evening Post in its copyrighted financial review today says:

"The first day's trading in the New Year was characterized by mixed movements in stocks, bonds and the foreign exchanges being offset by substantial declines in cotton and the grain more active with the end of the year operations in the money market over. The call rate declined from a renewal of 3 percent to 4 percent. It has been the general talk among the speculative element that the new year would see a reaction in stocks. Unquestionably there will be some sort of a reaction, but those who had expected it today were disappointed. Prices were higher throughout the day and fractional advances for the majority issues were well dispersed with gains of 1 to 2 points in the active industrials. A few specialties meanwhile made spectacular advances, radio being a feature, railroad shares were more active and the total turnover increased to approximately 1,800,000 shares. Bonds were moderately active with foreign issues and railroad descriptions selling at better prices.

Meeting Up Sharply.

"The sharp advance in the pound sterling in London yesterday while our market was closed was duplicated here today by a rise to 4 1/4 in the rate. Subsequently sterling eased. Sterling is now virtually at the price at which it was pegged during the war by the British Government and its rise has increased interest in the probable date of resumption of sterling to dollar parity and resumption of Great Britain of the gold standard. Belief that sterling would reach parity before long has, of course, greatly added to speculative buying of the exchange and this, together with foreign loans are the chief factors in the recent sharp upward movement. French francs moved up 1 1/2 points to 54 1/2 cents and other European rates were generally higher, but business was quiet. Argentine pesos continued their rapid advance.

Recession in Commodities.

"Sharp recession took place in the commodity markets. Cotton broke abruptly on hurriedly profit taking sales and short selling on the publication of report of the International Federation of Master Cotton Spinners of Lancashire, that report estimated the consumption of cotton for the current cotton year at 12,000,000 bales, whereas the trade generally had estimated the amount at 12,500,000 to 13,000,000 bales. At a late price of 24 1/2 cents the May future was 65 points lower. Many traders on the long side of what also took this occasion to unload and prices broke over 2 cents.

"The weekly statements of the foreign central banks reflect end-of-the-year financial operations. Circulation of the Bank of England decreased 1,456,000 as the result of the passing of the holiday demand for funds. An increase of £25,500,000 in Government securities and £20,000,000 in other securities, accompanied by an increase of $4,500,000 in private deposits reflect borrowing by the market and by the Government to meet mounting treasury bills. These changes brought the reserve ratio to the low point for the year at 11.8 percent. Repayment by the State of $800,000, 300 francs to the bank is the feature of the Bank of France statement. Note circulation decreased 281,213,000 francs.

COTTON PRICES IRREGULAR ON NEW YORK MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Options on the general trade outlook was reflected in the opening advance of 3 to 4 points in the cotton market here today.

Beard's figures available today for the season led to some local and commission houses buying available cotton before the market with the March contract selling up to 24.50 and 24.75 before the end of the first hour, or about 14 to 16 points higher than the opening price.

But, their showing was offset by the lower, here was reported by reports of cotton, the world's available supply of cotton, including the crop-over of last year, approximately 30,000,000 bales, compared with last year's estimated consumption of about 18,000,000 bales, including lint.

Offerings increased shortly after the opening and the market turned easier. Under Southern, local and Western selling. No fresh news factor was mentioned to account for the decline, but it appeared that bearish money figures had made a considerable impression on sentiment. The market was weak around mid-day with March selling at 24.50 and 24.75 and 24.50 and 24.75.

HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS AND THE FLU

To break up a cold over night or to cut short an attack of grippe, influenza or sore throat, physicians and druggists are now recommending Calotabs, the marvelous Calomel tablet, that is purified from dangerous and sickening effects. Those who have tried it say that it acts like magic, by far more effective and certain than the old style calomel, heretofore recommended by physicians.

One or two Calotabs at bed time with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with eating, work or pleasure. Next morning your cold has vanished and your system feels refreshed and purified. Calotabs are sold only in original sealed packages, price ten cents for the vest-pocket size; thirty-five cents for the large family package. Recommend and guaranteed by druggists. Your money back if you are not delighted.

HELD ON CHARGE OF RIFLING MAIL POUCHES

One of Seven Alleged Kidnapers of Station Agent at Salem, Ill., Arrested.

Charged in a Federal warrant with being a member of the gang that held up the B. & O. station at Salem, Ill., rifled four mail pouches and abducted the night agent and two Salem youths. Eugene Halloran, 31 years old, is held in the Vermilion County jail at Danville, Ill.

Halloran was unable to furnish $50,000 bond, fixed Wednesday at a hearing before United States Commissioner Frizzell at East St. Louis. Assistant District Attorney Walcott had requested $100,000 bond. Halloran denies the charge.

Arrested in Cabin.
He was arrested Wednesday in a two-room cabin in Washington Park, a suburb of East St. Louis, by Postoffice Inspector Keefe, Deputy Sheriff Schrader and Marshal Evans, who reported he attempted to reach three revolvers, concealed in a bed quilt, as they entered. Schrader says Halloran's photograph has been identified as that of a participant in four Illinois bank robberies.

Halloran says he resides at 1416 Gross avenue, East St. Louis. The Salem holdup, on Nov. 14, was committed by seven armed robbers. They obtained nothing of value from the mail pouches. The station agent and two youths abducted were driven 20 miles to East St. Louis and then thrown from the car.

One of Robbers Later Killed.
The body of Hollis Bryant, shot and killed in a holdup at Eagle Park, Nov. 16, has been identified by the station agent as that of one of the robbers.

The shack in which Halloran, also known as Eugene Brown, was arrested is about a mile southwest of the log cabin in which William Cook, 28, was shot Dec. 19 by a band of armed men. Cook is the stepfather of Charles Green, indicted for the robbery of the First National Bank of Columbia, Ill.

The Golden Bed

by WALLACE IRWIN

TWENTY-SEVENTH INSTALLMENT.

WHAT should he do in a case like this? Tip his new hat? Stop and bow? Say how-dee-doo? Or what? Perhaps she wouldn't know him. Why should she? He was in disguise. Had she flown at him and clasped him around the waist he could not have been more conscious of her, although his eyes were held glassily upon the path before him. Then a mortal curiosity compelled him to turn. She was regarding him with a friendly smile.

"How do you do, Mr. Holtz?" he heard her say.

Then what a triumph! Easily, gracefully he raised his hard new hat and was thankful that it had been built for such a fine gesture.

"How dee do, Miss Peake," a voice which might have been his own was saying politely.

The lady paused an instant, as though she would say more, but the social inhibitions again overcame Admah Holtz and he sauntered on. Maybe she wanted to talk to him. He didn't know. But anyhow, he wasn't going to take any chances. Also it was getting on toward four o'clock. This last thought brought him up to the stone horse-block of pleasant memory. Once on the flagged walk, leading to the big house, he was surprised at his own coolness. That Peake girl—the big one—had given him courage, even as a flight of birds heartened Columbus in his dash for India. True, it was not India that Columbus found, but that's a quarrel for philosophers.

When the big front door swung open an oldish colored man in a dress suit regarded Admah suspiciously with eyes that were the shade of weak tea.

"Is Miss Peake home?" asked the caller.

No, she just went out 'bout two minutes ago."

"Miss Flo Lee Peake, I mean," explained Admah, realizing his mistake.

"Step in, suh," replied the colored man, "and I'll see."

Proceeding warily, like a keeper, he conducted Admah into an over-powdering room, big as a church and impressive with polished wood and stiff upholstery.

"What name, please?" asked his guide, and when Admah answered "Holtz" monosyllabically, the servant repeated his promise that he would see and sunk into the depths of the house. He was gone a long time, permitting Admah his first interior view of the local palace.

Outside the rostrum of the First Baptist Church he had never seen such chairs, all carved in the back and the wood so bright you could see your face in it. But they looked finer and more comfortable than the chairs which the preacher and his deacons sat in. The wall was covered with some heavy stuff like stamped leather with gold scroll designs sticking out of a wine-colored background. He wondered if the chandeliers were trimmed with diamonds. Glass, he reckoned, but there must have been a ton of it hanging from the ceiling.

A big picture over the mantel seemed to attract him. Who was the gentleman with the white pigtail? Astride a snowy charger, whose head was small and pointed like that of a hobby horse, the warrior grasped his sword and glanced thoughtfully across the room. He looked a lot like that Peake girl—the big one—only his face was harder and stronger.

Here the dress-stitch colored man returned with the information that Miss Flo Lee would be in presently. And again there was abundant opportunity for Admah Holtz, his fashionable figure, propped without comfort against the carved back of a Peake chair, to note the details of Peake splendor. Finally he grew restless and looked at his watch. A quarter past four. . . . There couldn't be any mistake about the time. He had heard her distinctly over the phone. From somewhere in the rear of the house voices floated toward him, indistinct, tantalizing. There were bursts of laughter, male and female, then pauses, then a light soprano tinkle. Her voice. He began to wonder if there was some mistake. If the colored man had failed to tell her he was there, Admah knew how it was with colored help. That man Sam who worked round the store.

"Oh, how do you do, Mr. Holtz?" An unexpected and completely revised Flo Lee stood in the doorway, a slight blond gentleman at her elbow. In that flash Admah had time to note with indignation that her escort carried a cane. As for Flo Lee, she was wearing a hat and pulling on her gloves with the air of a lady about to go somewhere. Admah was a long time rising from his chair, but when he accomplished the feat he murmured something unintelligible to the effect that he was sorry he'd been late.

"Oh," she said in a voice that was so sweet, and yet so patronizing that he could have slain her on the spot. "So you've brought my vanity case, Mr. Holtz. Awfully good of you."

"Yes, I did bring it," he admitted, groping into his new pocket and hoping for the instant that he had left it behind. But when he had put it in her hand he was rewarded by the smile which she turned upon the blond gentleman with the cane.

"Bunny, I dropped that lovely vanity case and this man—Mr. Holtz—found it and was so awfully good as to bring it back. Have you met the Marquis de San Pilar, Mr. Holtz?"

And because the little blond fellow held out his hand Admah took it and gave it a shake before it was jerked away. Then they stood there, the three of them, apparently waiting for something.

"You were just in time, Mr. Holtz," she began, and he was encouraged for the instant it took her to draw on another glove. "We were just going out and I did so want to have my vanity case."

Another pause. Admah's inner self was clamoring "How about tea?" But he stood mute. At last having put on her gloves to her satisfaction, Flora Lee Peake took a suggestive step toward the door.

"We're a little late, if you'll forgive us," she smiled.

"Oh, that's all right," he declared, audaciously returning with a rush. "I'm going downtown too, so I'll just trapse along."

So down the marble steps of the bayed verandah they passed together, the three of them. Miss Peake and the Marquis de San Pilar. It somehow happened, walked a few feet ahead. But a stubborn mood was on Candy Holtz as he sauntered behind them as far as the horse-block against which a handsome automobile was waiting, its chauffeur attendant by the open door.

Flora Lee Peake had stepped in and motioned the Marquis to a seat beside her before again she remembered her invitation to the party.

"Well, good by, Mr. Holtz," she called out pleasantly. "And many thanks."

The Marquis' hat came off, and so did Admah's. It was as pretty a sight as you would wish to see on an autumn day.

"Not at all, ma'am," said Admah, and watched the big car slide away as smooth as oil. His inner self said, "Well, I'll be damned!" but the outer Admah, proudly conscious of Inness Street's battery of hidden eyes, carried it off with a flourish. If, behind the rows of closed shutters, there was anyone to watch, they might have beheld a young man in a brand-new suit pausing arrogantly to place a cigarette between his lips, to light it with fastidious care and puff luxuriously as he took his languid way toward Prince's avenue. A puff for the world of fashion, said Admah's every gesture. And a fig for its customs, Admah Holtz, proclaimed the pantomimist, had called on Miss Flo Lee Peake, in the afternoon, at tea time. At her side—practically—he had progressed down the lawn, seen her to her car, exchanged salutes with her Spiketty Count.

Go on! But in that defiance which proclaimed an outward pride and a bruised hope, one sharp regret kept digging him like a misplaced pin. He wished to God he'd let Monty Penback coax him into buying a cane.

CHAPTER 44.

So much for the gambler who, as the saying goes, took a chance and lost toward that. Admah Holtz was ever a gambler. When he played for money he studied his game and kept his head. But what chance had he in a game where, if there are rules, they are honored more in the breach than in the observance?

In the days that followed he hid his wounds as craftily as he hid his fine clothes away from the unsympathetic world. Only Miss Hannigan, the efficient spinster who more than earned her salary at the Red Front Store, remarked his coming in with a suit of tobacco brown, stealing away into a rear storeroom and emerging with his workaday apparel. She made note of it, and frankly expressed her opinion, for to Miss Hannigan the shadow of Candy Holtz was a thing to be worshiped.

"You did look mighty fine, all dressed up in them clothes, Miss Holtz," she said with languishing glances from eyes that were too small for her nose. "When you come in like that you looked just like a bridegroom after the wedding."

And next morning a note from the Improvement Committee of St. Thomas' Nursing Home reminded Mr. Holtz that his subscription of $200 was then due and payable.

So much for the Peakes and all they brought, thus far, into the life of Admah Holtz. But one who sets down such scraps of his biography as could be gathered knows this much of a man who took his education and his fortune out of the lap of opportunity. With a certain steadfastness of ideal he fought his way upward. It was an uneducated ideal, vague and spotty. Because the Peakes were the only eminence he knew he had grown to gaze up at them with no more understanding than a shepherd has when he adores a high temple and has no knowledge of the rotten priesthood within.

Admah Holtz was stubborn, reticent and uninformed. Like a rock-thrower he would draw his arrow to the head and shoot at the moon. Twice he had done that, and missed. A yearning for beauty, never satisfied in his hard early life, ruined his perspective regarding many things, notably women. But there was always bitterness in his ambition. Mabel Stek had shocked his boyish belief, yet his resentment toward her had bred in him a desire to climb, to place himself above a power like hers. Then in this last week Flora Lee Peake had outraged his pride in a way that shook him more deeply than the dreadful sounds that had harked Mabel Stek's last night on Dutch Hill.

Above all things poor Admah was stubborn. It had taken him years to recover from the wound which Mabel Stek's frailty had dealt his faith. How soon, then, could he forget the little empty head that lay for a while on his shoulder . . . under the enchanted moon at which his arrow flew again?

One afternoon in early November it was his ill fate to see her once more in a picture nicely set for his undoing.

Outside St. Mary's Cathedral he was standing in the crowd, no less humbly than the morning when a colored mammy had carried her on a pillow to her christening at All Souls'. Under a canopy a red carpet ran all the way from the curb to the Gothic door, and a special policeman was hard put to keep the crowd—mostly colored—from pressing in and spoiling the scene.

Then the cry "Hush she come. Bless Pat, she done got on the crown an' accepter!"

Out of the door she comes, a beauty incomparable; walking in a cloud of silvery lace she advances at her husband's side, and to the eyes of her old lover she is celestial, a being who moves in its own luminous vapor. The bridesmaids come flocking out, rosette birds of identical plumage; Margaret Peake is carrying the bride's bouquet.

Admah Holtz remembered it forever and forever: the had angel of his destiny, all swaddled in pure light. Her little feet, so small he could have held them both in one hand, have flicked the crimson carpet with their snowy satin toes. As she passed toward the bridal car she came so close that he might have touched her; indeed, a corner of her veil, puffing in the wind, flew out and whipped him across the face. If it was a portent that young Marchesa de San Pilar did not know it.

CHAPTER 45.

It was the spring of 1921 before Admah saw her again. In that interval a sick world had murdered a dozen million of its bravest men; earth had changed her face and become as much something else as might the moon which she decided on a midsummer's night to turn over and show us that other, mysterious profile which none but lunatics are supposed to see.

Today's Winning Puzzle

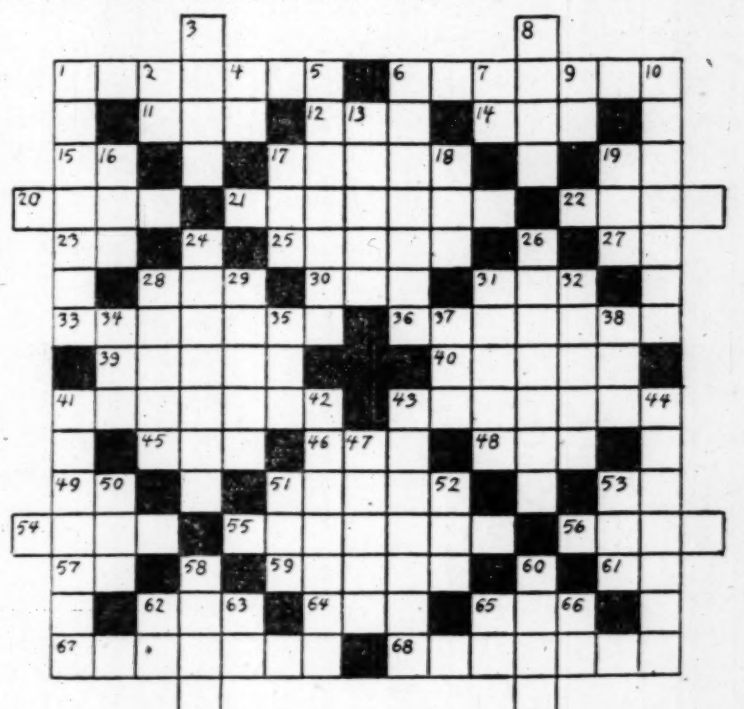

The puzzle printed below wins the prize of $10 offered daily by the Post-Dispatch for the most original cross-word puzzle submitted to this paper. It was contributed by Mrs. Frank E. Dickey, 5232 Paulian Place, St. Louis. The solution of this puzzle will be printed tomorrow.

Each number in the puzzle indicates the position of the first letter of a word.

Each word reads from left to right (horizontal) or downward (vertical), according to position. Lettered in correctly, words that cross will interlock.

Each number in the white squares also refers to a definition in the accompanying table.

Each definition suggests a word possessing the exact number of letters to fit the white space allotted to it.

Three-Minute Journeys

WHERE MEN CARRY RESTAURANTS ON THEIR BACKS.

A TRAVELER through China is impressed with the street life of that picturesque country. In the streets of the teeming land, where the population runs into the hundreds of millions, one sees many quaint and interesting sights.

Every type of vendor, from hawker to tailor, may be found selling wares on the busiest corners. The air is filled with a babel of voices. On the overcrowded, dirty streets, one hears merchants arguing with traders over the sale of some article, or vendors and patrons haggling over the respective merits of different pieces of goods. Their voices rise and fall in a monotonous jargon of sound. Everything is so strange. It is an ever-changing picture of life and color.

The most novel of all is the traveling restaurant. Many families do not prepare their own meals. They send out to one of these itinerant eating houses and have their food cooked and brought to them.

The restaurateur carries his entire outfit on his back. Counter, oven, shelves and his entire stock of goods are deftly folded into one compact bundle and carried on his shoulders. These peripatetic restaurants are very popular with the people of China and they do a good business.

The food is packed in small bundles to enable the owner to carry as much stock as possible. On short notice, the proprietor can produce a very tasty meal.

When some customers approach this walking restaurant, the owner shifts his outfit from his back to the sidewalk, sets up the various implements, and in a surprisingly short space of time has an appetizing meal ready for his hungry patrons.

When the meal is finished, the proprietor cleans off his counter, folds up his goods, mounts it on his shoulders, and after pocketing the money—the prices are amazingly small—he again proceeds down the dirty, narrow street, bawling out his wares and dodging squeaky wheelbarrows and lumbering rickshaws, until he finds some more patrons. Then the performance is repeated all over again.

THE PANCAKE SEASON'S ON

It seems a part of the winter that there should be an occasional breakfast when pancakes are on the menu. Much of the joy of this breakfast is in the pleasant aroma of the hot brown cakes and the appetizing smell of bacon or sausage, which is sure to accompany them. There should, of course, be no odor of burning fat and blue smoke—the aluminum griddle has made this unnecessary.

If you like to serve pancakes occasionally why have the same kind of cakes each time when there are many variations? Wheat cakes, buckwheat cakes, cornmeal cakes are not all there are in the pancake line. The right kind of cornmeal cakes, with bacon, are among our best, although less seldom served. Perhaps, because the meal is seldom properly scaled to insure a well done, light, tender cake.

A good way to make these corn cakes is to take one cup of cornmeal and add to it one tablespoon of sugar, one tablespoon of salt, and two cups of boiling water. Let this stand until the meal swells and the water is quite cool. Then add one and one-half cups of cold milk, stir well and beat in two cups of flour sifted with four teaspoons of baking powder. When well mixed, add two well beaten eggs. When placed on the griddle make the cakes small and thin, as they must be well cooked and be sure and give them time for longer cooking than you give wheat cakes.

Apple pancakes are a nice breakfast dish. Chop enough apples finely to make a cup. Cream together one tablespoon of butter and one of sugar. Add two well beaten eggs, and one and one-half cups of flour sifted with one teaspoon of baking powder. Add the apples and enough milk to make a medium batter. This must be a little thicker than the ordinary pancake batter, because the cooking apples will thin it. Bake as for ordinary griddle cakes.

Cakes made with grated fresh potato have a pleasantly different flavor. Drain two cups of grated potato and add one beaten egg, two tablespoons of flour, and milk to make a medium batter. Season with salt, pepper and little onion if desired. If to be eaten with syrup this should be omitted for of course. These may be baked on a griddle or in a frying pan with considerable hot fat.

Cold boiled rice or bread crumbs are excellent pan-cakes. Drain bread crumbs cakes are very tender if made from one and one-half cups of stale crumbs soaked in the same quantity of hot milk until soft. Add two well beaten eggs, two tablespoons of melted fat, a cup and a half of flour sifted with one-half teaspoon of salt and four teaspoons of baking powder.

FAMOUS WOMEN

SARAH JENNINGS.

SARAH JENNINGS, the wife of the great Gen. John, Duke of Marlborough, has been painted in terms far too black by Lord Macaulay, a fact easily accounted for by her coming into opposition to his Lordship's hero, King William. Her worst fault was her imperious temper. It was her destiny to become the intimate friend of King James' second daughter, the Princess Anne, a gentle and timid woman of limited understanding, who, in her public career, felt the need of a strong mind to lean on.

Sarah, Duchess of Marlborough, was born May 29, 1686, and there is something very conciliating in the accounts she gives of her friendship for the Princess. She once wrote: "Anne justly felt a relationship of equality was necessary for friendship and she detested any display of ceremony due her rank, therefore, she one day proposed that I take the name of Mrs. Freeman and she take the name of Mrs. Morely, and that we be known to each other in the future by these names."

Raisin Stuffing.

Combine two cupfuls soft bread crumbs, one-half cupful raisins, one teaspoonful salt, one-eighth teaspoonful pepper. Stir in a tablespoonful minced onion and one-half teaspoonful poultry seasoning. Moisten slightly with boiling water, and use as directed.

Foods That Go Together.

Creamed oysters on toast, baked potatoes, peas and carrots, cold slaw and squash pie.

Ham croquettes, creamed potatoes, buttered carrots, lettuce salad with Thousand Isles dressing and cranberry-raisin pie.

Bolled leg of mutton, caper sauce; baked sweet potatoes, tomato scallop, mayonnaise of celery and Marlborough pie.

Handy at all times

Hardy's Iodized Salt is a free-running table and cooking salt with the same taste and color as plain salt. It's handy to use for all seasoning and comes in a sanitary carton with patented spout. The small amount of iodine, added at the request of medical authorities, has been put in for general healthfulness and for the prevention of GOITER. Despite its two-fold purpose, Hardy's costs no more. Your grocer will supply you—buy and use it freely.

MEDITATIONS MARRIED WOMAN

By HELMOWLAND

WITH LIND SUGAR.
All the self-control in the world can't prevent a man from "skidding" when a woman spins path with her tears.

The man who makes a first love-making may sometimes take himself seriously, but he is advised and hurt if a woman does.

The girl who is wedded to a job and a husband faces all the problems of a bigamist. To hold onto her job she loses half the sweetness of home life—and if she gives up her job and tries to hold onto her home she loses her identity.

Many a man who can tell you why he is a screwdriver in the medicine chest and left his hat in the baby's.

Most men are cultivating a substitute for love-making. But a good "line" is just a thing device—a wonderful invention for the conservation of memory.

Somehow the "switch" in a man's mind seems to turn off the current of a woman's passion.

Telephones are very rare—probably because they need no "alibi machines" in a country where a lover says it with his eyes and his guitar, and a husband just until he is ready to come home, and makes no apologies.

Perhaps the reason a man hates to answer a woman's questions is because he has a notion that he is going to have an awfully hard time living up to her answers.

It's getting so that many women marry serially—but not seriously.

Improving the Gown—If it is a narrow, close-fitting gown and at the wrist. It can be of different material and the color may be different. The puff be- just attach a puff to the sleeve the elbow is really never than sleeve in that discarded from the long, tight sleeve.

Counting the pennies

Remember the old proverb, "Penny saved is a penny found." How true it is. A few cents a day will save many dollars.

PAR WAVE ICE

Grape, Orange, Apple and Nut Salad.

Halve and seed a cupful of Malaga grapes or Tokay grapes; peel and slice two good-sized oranges in one-fourth inch pieces. Dice two apples and coarsely chop a half cupful of nut meats—any kind. Mix the grapes, apples and nuts with sufficient mayonnaise to blend. Arrange for service on lettuce and a slice of orange; garnish further with mayonnaise, and parsley or pimiento.

PHILOSOPHICAL PHRASES.

It is a great argument in a man's favor to have shown moderation on both sides.
No one is born without faults; he is best who is best by least.
The burden which is lightly carried becomes light.
To bear troubles is a light thing; to endure them to the end is a heavy thing.
If you say he is ungrateful, you say all that can be said.

Sweet Potato Pie.
Boil two medium sized potatoes, or enough to make two cups. Mash, add 1 cup sugar, butter size of an egg, enough milk to make as thin as pumpkin pie. 2 eggs well beaten, 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg. Bake in single crust until set. Or take 3 medium size potatoes and boil with skin on. When done, peel and add 4 table- spoons butter and mash, add 2-3 cup sugar, 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, yolk of 2 eggs, 1-3 cup milk. Bake in pie crust in moderate oven 40 to 45 minutes. Then add whites of eggs made into meringue.

Baked Veal Cutlet.
Lay the cutlet in a well-greased roasting pan and cover with fol- lowing dressing: Two cupfuls bread crumbs, one teaspoonful salt, one- half teaspoonful of pepper, one ta- blespoonful thyme or savory, one- half teaspoonful onion juice, two beaten eggs and two tablepoons of butter, all thoroughly mixed. Pour one cupful water into the pan and cover. After baking one-half hour remove cover to allow cutlet to brown.

PARIS.—Despite the trend to- ward the larger shapes, the small close fitting felt hat still is thor- oughly fashionable. The usual trimming is a bird made of glycer- ined ostrich feathers.

Children's Bedtime Story

Little Joe Otter Is Suspicious

Suspicious folk avoid mishaps
By always watching out for traps.

—Little Joe Otter.

HARDLY had the trapper dis- appeared in the woods when Little Joe Otter awoke and crept forth from his hiding place. He left Mrs. Otter and the two young Otters still asleep. Little Joe yawned, stretched and then decided that he wanted a trout. It didn't take him long to catch one. With it in his mouth he swam straight to a certain old log, one end of which was in the wa- ter. He intended to climb out on that old log and eat that trout. It was his favorite eating place.

But just as he reached that old log and before he had started to climb out on it a queer feeling of uneasiness took possession of him. He had a feeling that something wasn't quite right. Now what? Little Joe has that feeling he always feels it. He didn't climb out on that log. He turned and swam over to a flat rock. He climbed out on that and laid the fish down. Somehow he had lost his appet- ite. He looked long and hard over at that old log.

"It looks all right," said Little Joe. "Yes, sir, it looks all right. Just the same I have a feeling that there is something wrong there. I believe I'll go back there and see if I can find out what is wrong." So once more Little Joe swam over to that old log. But he didn't climb out on it. He studied it and studied it. He used both eyes and nose. Presently he no- ticed some fresh mud on that old log. That was queer. He was sure there had been no mud there before. Very carefully he looked all around the place where that fresh mud was and in doing so he discovered a chain. He got hold of the chain and pulled gently. What do you think happened? Why he pulled a trap out of a place that had been cut in that old log and then covered with mud to hide the freshly cut wood.

"Ha!" exclaimed Little Joe as the trap dropped down into the water beside the old log. "I've been afraid of this ever since we were chased by that terrible two- legged creature on our way over here. He must be the one who set this trap. If he set this trap he has set other traps. I must warn Mrs. Otter and the children. That trapper has been watching us. He knew that I had been using this old log. He probably knows all the other places that we are in the habit of going to. We must find out where those traps are."

Just then Little Joe heard a splash in the water. There was Mrs. Otter, with a trout in her mouth. He called her over there and showed her the trap and where it had been set. "Where are the children?" he demanded. "They are fishing," replied Mrs. Otter, with a most anxious look in her eyes. "We must find them at once. They never have seen a trap, and they know nothing about traps. Oh, dear, I hope they will not get caught before we can find them and warn them!"

Just then the smallest young Otter climbed out on a rock, and a moment later her brother climbed out on another rock. Mrs. Otter and Little Joe swam swiftly over to them. The young Otters stopped eating the fish they had caught to stare in sur- prise at the way in which their parents were hurrying.

FASHION FRILLS

PARIS.—The vogue for plumage and heads of birds has assaulted the small satin hats which earlier in the season have been practically untrammelled. One of the latest has a visor brim narrowing at sides, adorned with two grebe heads placed over the left ear, with the bills down.

NEW YORK.—People used to get a lot of fun out of the "one-horse open sleigh." Now they ob- tain almost the same exhilaration from the automobile runabout with the top down. For winter weather driving, nearly all women moter- ists select leather as an outer cov- ering. The newest auto coats are suede or reindeer, as flexible as silk and topped and cuffed with fox.

LONDON.—What is more nat- ural than to go around the links of the golf courses in a round hat? That is what many prominent women golfers are buying at pres- ent. These hats are of camel's hair tweed, decorated with a mere sprig of coque at one side and may be had in fawn, mink, orange, blue, copper or blue gray.

FAVORITE STORIES
By Irvin S. Cobb

A LITTLE TALE FOR BUSINESS MEN.

JUST before he died, at an untimely age and to the regret of the amusement-loving public, Barney Barnard, the great Hebrew comedian, told me this one:

He said a co-religionist of his was on the road selling goods for a general supply house. One afternoon he dropped in on a customer residing in a suburban town.

"I don't want anything in your line today," said the storekeeper, as the traveling man began undoing a sample case. "I'm all stocked up."

"Oh, give me a little order anyway," pleaded the drummer. "Just a little something to prove to the boss that I'm on the job. Business has been rotten the last few days."

"Same here," said the customer. "No, there's nothing doing. You'll only be wasting your time and mine. Besides, I haven't got any money to spare."

"You won't have to pay for 90 days," said the drummer. "That makes no difference. I'm feeling poor and I don't want to feel any poorer. Why, yesterday I ordered a Pomeranian for a hundred dollars and Lord knows where I'm going to get the cash for it when it comes through. But my wife just would have a Pomeranian. You know how women are."

"Sucker that you are!" exclaimed the traveling man. "To pay one hundred dollars for one of these here now Pomeranians is foolishness. Listen to me: You send a wire canceling that order and I'll bill you an A-number-one, high-grade Pomeranian for—let me see?—for sixty-five dollars, delivered."

"That's a trade," said the citizen and the deal was closed.

The traveling man hurried back to his hotel and on the long-distance telephone called up his chief.

"Say, listen, Mr. Einstein," he said to the head of the firm, when connection had been made. "This is Levinski speaking. I just got an order from Jones out here in Southville; not much of an order, but still something. I sold a Pomeranian for sixty-five dollars. Say, Mr. Einstein, what is a Pomeranian?"

A DEVOTEE TO ONE TOOL.

ONE of the larger Eastern Golf Clubs has a pleasant custom. Once a year all the caddies are guests at a big dance.

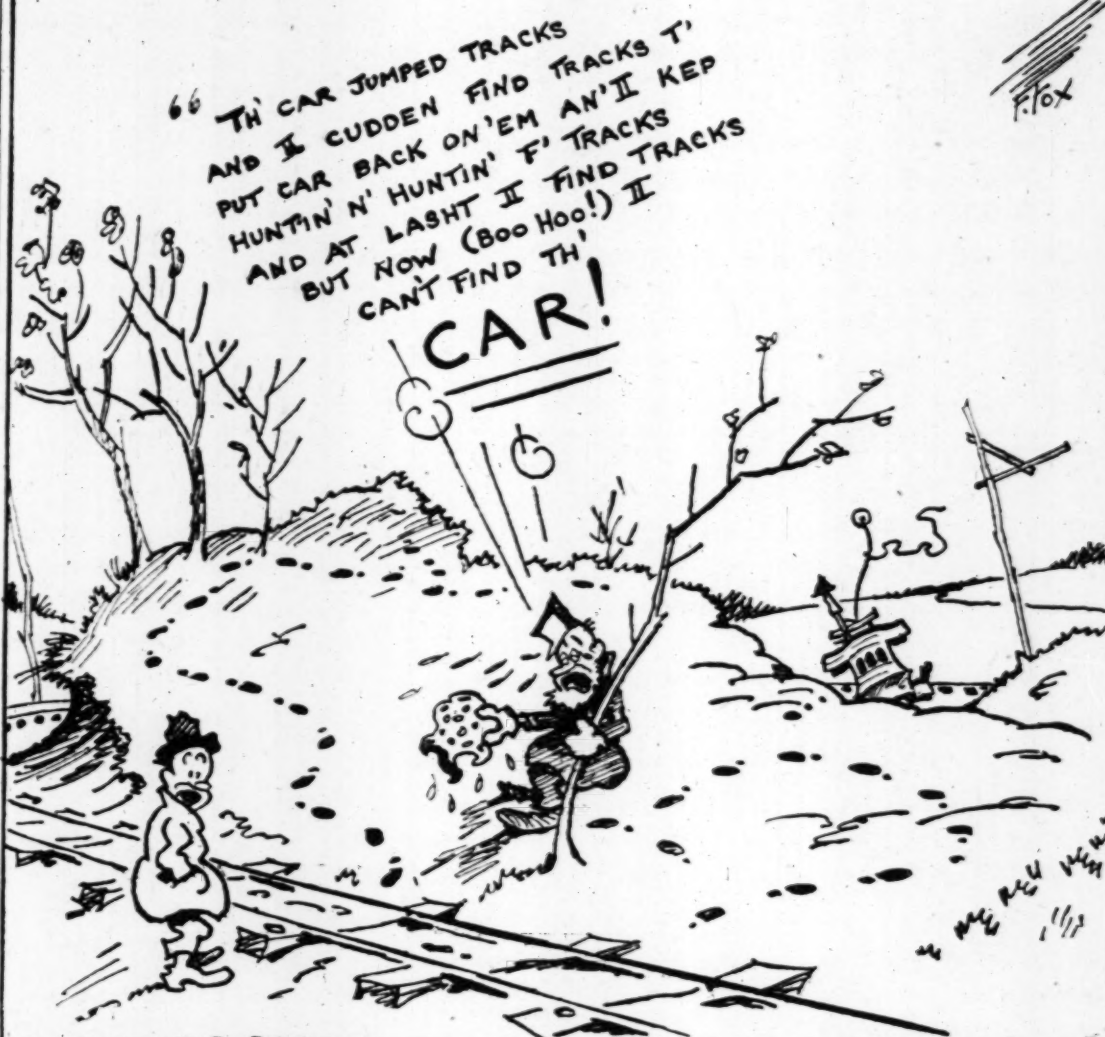

At the latest feast one of the boys declined to employ either of the forks he found at his place. He loaded his food into himself with his knife. When the ice cream course was reached and he still wielded his knife, a boy who sat opposite to him shouted:

"Geel! Look at Skinny usin' his iron all the way 'round!"
